Czechs Protest Invasion

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovaks massed today on Vaclavske Namesti, Prague's main square, in a violent demonstration against the Soviet-led occupation and the arrest of their reform-minded Communist chief, Alexander Dubcek.

Ignoring requests by the clandestine Prague radio to maintain calm to avoid giving the foreign soldiers an excuse for further violence, a crowd of about 20,000 shook their fists at the Russians and shouted: "Russian murderers go home!"

They called for Dubcek's release.

Shots were heard from the square. It could not be determined immediately whether the soldiers were aiming at demonstrators or loosing warning shots into the air.

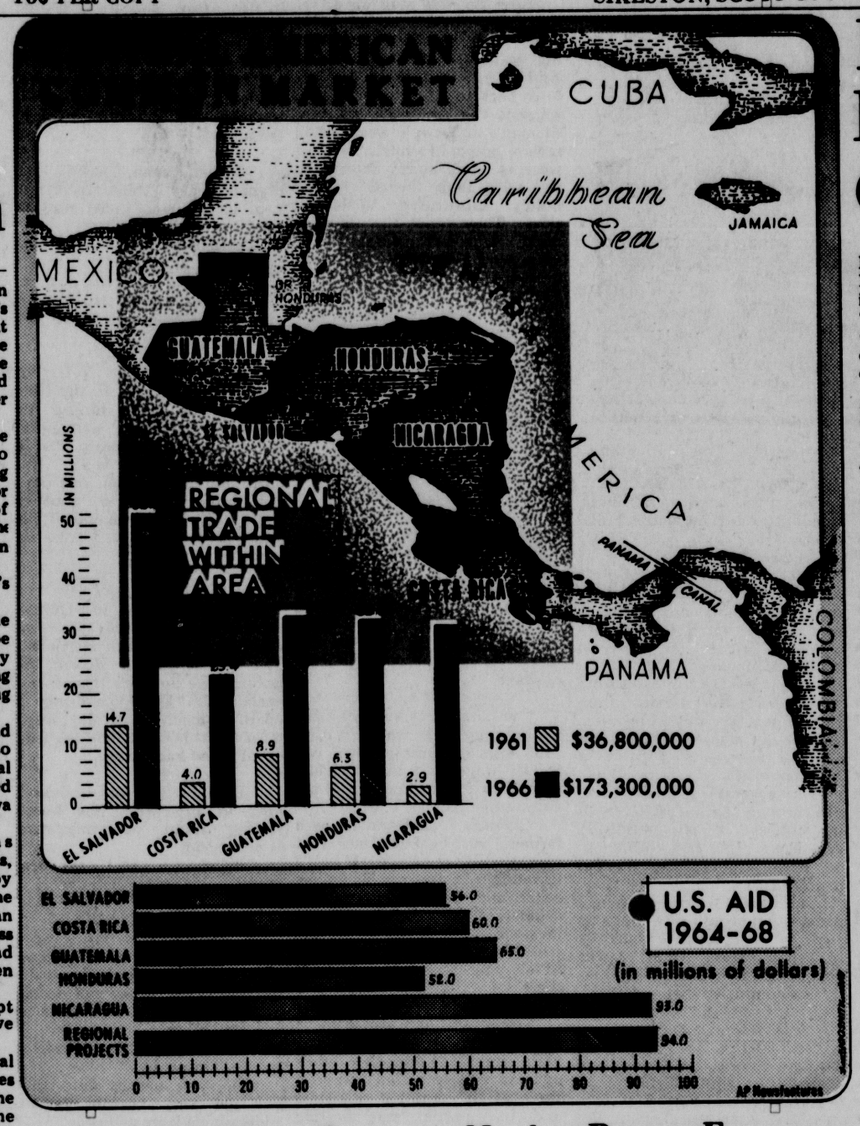

Soviet tank troops, who had been covering all approaches to the square since their arrival Wednesday, immediately closed all bridges across the Vltava River, which divides the city.

The move came as Czechoslovak Communists, reacting to the occupation by 200,000 Russian and Kremlin-line satellite troops, convened in an extraordinary party congress that its liberal leadership had originally scheduled to open Sept. 9.

This was a last-ditch attempt to force the troops to leave through political pressure.

The clandestine proliberal radio announced 927 delegates met at 11:20 a.m. Though the broadcast did not specify the site, the delegates had been urged to go to the liberal-controlled CKD factory on the outskirts of Prague.

Under arrangements that had been made by Dubcek, 1,500 members would have been on hand for the September meeting. In that session it had been expected he would oust conservative opponents from the ruling party Presidium and the Central Committee.

Central American Common Market Booms Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)--President Johnson considers the Central American Common Market a spectacular success in spurring economic and social development, on a regional basis.

He feels that implementation of such a plan might prove to be just what is needed to guide a trouble world to peace and progress.

Economists agree.

The Central American Common Market was organized in the early 1960s. Now about 95 per cent of the trade among the five nations is exempted from tariffs or customs duties as it moves from one country to the other in that area.

In addition, the plan has pointed the way to increased cooperation in regional planning for economic and social progress and spurred industrial, agricultural, educational, highway and general economic and social development in each of the nations.

For many years Latin American nations handled trade among themselves, each imposing tariffs on products of the other, and using customs duties to protect inefficient industries from competition.

Many still follow the same plan. The result has been higher costs to consumers for products sometimes of low quality, slow economic and social development, low living standards and economic and political rivalries leading to unhappy relations. Another product of the system has been a lack of adequate markets for agricultural and industrial items, even if efficiently produced. It also blocked out development of the regional power, transportation, communication, highway, industrial and agricultural facilities requiring a large market.

Central America thus has become the first area of Latin America to provide a breakthrough. Long regarded as nations with frequent revolutions and bitter quarrels among themselves, the five little nations -- Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica moved swiftly ahead on the common market plan while the more powerful nations of South America are still arguing about it.

The Central American nations have been able to increase regional trade up to 700 per cent in seven years, with national production growing at 6 per cent a year, and investments in development up 65 per cent.

But everything is not rosy. The little republics have had their problems, their jealousies and their national pride and business competition to deal with and they have not always succeeded.

The experts say this is normal in the complexities of getting any region where nations formerly competed with each other to work together, sometimes making sacrifices for the regional good.

Problems such as this have arisen:

1. Central American nations have poor communication facilities among themselves. A telecommunications survey produced a plan experts considered perfectly plausible. The World Bank was ready to finance it. The quarrel was not with the idea, but where its headquarters would be located. That hasn't been settled yet nor has a central authority been established to manage the enterprise as an autonomous entity, but now plans have been worked out to get the project started, leaving such decisions for later.

2. Because rapid economic and social development requires increased imports of supplies and materials, the little nations began to have balance of payments problems. To check luxury imports and those of competing products from non-regional nations, the Central Americans decided to impose a 30 per cent surtax on such imports. Nicaragua did so promptly, the others delyaed. Then Nicaragua charged other countries of the region were importing shirts from Hong Kong carrying labels of he importing countries and selling them in Nicaragua, to the dismay of its own shirt manufacturers. It said the same thing happened on textile goods, rice, soap and other products.

The highly-praised Common Market plan was ready to blow up.

This may have been a major motive for President Johnson's trip to the area early in July, to meet with the presidents of the five nations, Latin Americans credit him, and the general spirit of cooperation sparked by the common market plan, with getting things back on the track again. All agreed to impose and enforce the surtax plan. So congenial was the spirit that two countries, Honduras and Salvador, agreed on an exchange of prisoners captured in a border area disputed by both countries.

Everybody concedes much remains to be done in every area of social and economic development. But as President Johnson told the five presidents, "you are making great progress."

Faulty Brakes Cause Collision

An automobile driven by Mrs. Beatrice Stauffer, route two, Sikeston, struck the left front fender of a car driven by Mrs. Betty Ruth Marshall, 201 Kramer at 11:22 a.m. yesterday at Park and Wakefield, police reported.

The brakes of the Stauffer vehicle failed as Mrs. Stauffer approached the intersection traveling south on Park and attempted to stop at the stop sign. The Marshall vehicle was eastbound on Wakefield.

Driver Charged In Death Flees From Hospital

NEW MADRID - The sheriff's office has been advised that Kenneth Dewayne Johnson, 22, charged with manslaughter, has fled the Veterans Administration hospital at Poplar Bluff, where he was a patient.

Charges had been filed following an accident Aug. 12 in which Gary Lynn Higgerson, 16, riding a motorbike was killed when struck by an automobile the state patrol said was driven by Johnson.

Johnson had been taken to Poplar Bluff following the accident and walked out of the hospital Thursday night, hospital authorities report.

Although the charges had been filed in New Madrid County, Johnson had never been served with the papers charging manslaughter.

Johnson, who was home on leave from the Navy, is thought to have returned to his base and is being sought there.

Insect Pests Described for Lions Club

James Maddox, plant pest control inspector for U.S. department of agriculture, explained insect control to members of the Lions club, Wednesday at the Country Club. Henry Bussey, president, was in charge.

Maddox told of the control over the cyst nematode in soybeans, that until the past two years, destroyed thousands of acres of beans. The insect is so small that several hundred can be on a single plant root. They can be seen only through a microscope.

They are spread from farm implements carrying soil on wheels or by hunters tracking over the ground. A resistant seed variety is now in plentiful supply.

Maddox also told of control of Japanese beetle, first found in this area near East St. Louis, Ill., in 1940, causing an estimated crop and flower damage of $10 million annually. The beetles have been brought under control through insecticides.

The third insect described was the white fringe beetle, brought to this country from Argentina in 1928 near the Mobile, Ala. seaports. It is similar to the Japanese beetle and about one-third the size of a June bug.

An area of six blocks at Cardwell near the railroad yards is now being treated with chlorodane and this fall the soil will be treated to control the larvai stage.

Maddox came to Sikeston last November from Dyersburg, Tenn. He replaced Herbert Morgan, who went to Urbana, Ill.

Cape Girardeau Man Hurt, $700 Tire Theft

Frank Graham, 67, Cape Girardeau, was injured seriously in a farm tractor and tractor-trailer collision Wednesday at 2 p.m. on Interstate I-55, six-tenths of a mile south of Scott City.

He was driving a Massey-Ferguson tractor, when a 1967 GMC tractor-trailer, driven by Carl LaCroix, 45, Advance, attempted to speed past his tractor and struck the rear of the farm vehicle, throwing Graham off, the state patrol said.

Graham received back injuries, which the patrol said paralyzed him.

In addition he received a broken right leg, scratches and bruises. He was taken to St. Francis hospital in Cape Girardeau.

LaCroix was given a summons for careless and imprudent driving.

The state patrol received a call at 3:30 a.m. today from Dan Puibk, Monett, reporting that 28 Mohawk tires, valued at $700 were taken from his truck, while parked at the Corral motel near Advance.

He checked into the motel last night. His trucks carried a load of tires for the Friendly Tire Company, Monett.

He was awakened early today by a noise outside the motel and discovered the loss.

Ike Remains Critical

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower continued to show increased evidences of heart "irritability" today but Army doctors said his over-all condition is unchanged and still critical.

The irritability mentioned in the latest bulletin first appeared Wednesday night and refers to a weakening in the nerves that operate the heart muscles.

This morning's report by the doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital added that the term also means extra beats or irregularity in the heart rhythm.

"In spite of his long illness," said the medical report, "he has remained cheerful and continues to see members of his immediate family for brief periods daily. His vital signs remain stable and his over-all condition must be viewed as unchanged but still critical."

The report said that the 77-year-old Eisenhower continues to rest comfortably and has been in no pain.

Three Worthless Checks Passed by Driver, 40

A white man, about 40, driving a 1961 beige Oldsmobile or Buick, has passed three worthless checks in three weeks, two for $15, and a third for $10.

Each check bore the name of James Boss in the signature position. One was drawn on the First National Bank, and a second on the Security National Bank, both of Sikeston.

A third check for $10 bearing the same name signed was cashed at A and P store in Cape Girardeau.

Melvin Tidwell, manager of Gulf station on North Main, said that a check there was cashed Aug. 4. Ed Baker, manager of a Scott City Gulf station, said a check there was cashed by an attendant, Bill Erast, Saturday.

The Scott City station manager described one man as about 40, five feet, 11 inches tall, weighing 190-200 pounds, brown hair and flat face; a second in the car was about 18-20, six feet, 165-170 pounds and light brown hair or blond hair.

After cashing the check at Scott City, an attendant attempted to write the license number but there was none.

Spain Says He Will Vote for McCarthy

BLOOMFIELD -- State Rep. James E. Spain, D-151 district, and delegate to the National Democratic presidential convention, said today he had made up his mind to vote for Eugene McCarthy for President on the first ballot, if the state does not invoke the unit rule.

Spain said it was surprisingly hard to decide who he would vote for this year, but he is convinced McCarthy would run better against Richard Nixon, nationally the Republican Nominee nationally than Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

A Gallup poll released yesterday - convinced him McCarthy would be the better candidate, he said.

The Gallup poll showed that Nixon would beat Humphrey by 16 percentage points, while it gave Nixon an edge of five percentage points over McCarthy.

Spain said he always has been a Democrat and would support Humphrey if he is nominated. There is a lot of good things to be said for Humphrey, he said, but his close identification with the present administration hurts his chances of being elected this year.

Spain said he had met McCarthy in St. Louis and was favorably impressed.

"It's refreshing to meet a politician who will come right out and tell you in a few words exactly what he thinks," Spain said.

Spain said he has received about 500 letters since he became a delegate this year. The mail is overwhelmingly in favor of McCarthy's nomination, which reflects at least the energy of the McCarthy supporters, he added.

Spain said he believes only about three other Missouri delegates are going to the convention committed to McCarthy, but several are going uncommitted.

Viet Reds Renew Rocket Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy rockets smashed into the center of Saigon for the first time in two months today and mortars hit more than a dozen other cities and allied installations in a fifth straight day of widespread enemy attacks.

Heavy ground fighting also was reported at half a dozen points.

Military communiques reported 45 Vietnamese civilians were killed and 117 wounded in the rain of more than 500 rockets and mortars that hit Saigon and cities to the northwest and south. A Japanese news correspondent, Tatsuo Sakai, 33, also was killed in the Saigon attack, becoming the 19th correspondent to die in the war. Only five Americans were reported wounded in the widespread shellings.

An American soldier was fatally shot in the back while cycling in downtown Saigon. The shooting touched off a running motorcycle gun battle that left a South Vietnamese soldier and one of the three Vietnamese assailants wounded. The wounded assailant was later captured. The two other men escaped.

The intensified pace of the war included shellings and ground attacks against at least six allied bases blocking invasion routes into Saigon and a fifth straight day of heavy fighting for control of a road 40 miles northwest of Saigon. The road is a vital supply route for American forces astride a key Viet Cong infiltration corridor leading from Cambodia.

A senior U.S. officer said the stepped up fighting across the country—with more than 1,400 enemy troops reported killed since last Sunday—could be the start of the long-awaited third Viet Cong offensive. But he qualified this by adding that "It's too early to make an assessment."

The officer conceded that it is "always possible" the latest attacks, mainly those on allied bases, may have been a diversionary move to distract allied forces while enemy troops maneuvered into position for a subsequent ground attack on Saigon.

"They've done this in the past," he noted.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams' headquarters termed the renewed shelling of Saigon "indiscriminate harassing rocket attacks."

"No military installations were hit," a communique from Abrams' headquarters said.

Abrams, riding in a military jeep, toured some of the areas in Saigon that were hit by the 20-round barrage of 100-pound Russian-made rockets.

Viet Cong gunners also fired rockets on a U.S. Navy ammunition ship and three merchant ships, including the British tanker Calter Newcastle, in the Long Tau channel to Saigon. Headquarters said two of the ships received minor damage.

U.S. headquarters said the rockets that hit Saigon were fired from positions southeast of the capital.

"Counter-artillery was fired within three minutes on suspected enemy positions with unknown results," headquarters said.

Allied forces repulsed all of the ground attacks, headquarters said, with the help of divebombers, artillery and helicopter gunships.

During attacks on two American fire bases around Tay Ninh City, 45 miles northwest of Saigon, American artillerymen turned their big howitzers point-blank at charging North Vietnamese.

Military spokesmen said that 82 enemy were killed 27nbthe ground assaults on the two bases of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division. American casualties were six killed and 30 wounded.

Headquarters said that 24 enemy troops had been killed in fighting Wednesday and Thursday in Tay Ninh Province near Cambodian border base camps of the enemy. It was in Tay Ninh Province last Sunday that the Viet Cong touched off their latest round of attacks, shattering a two-month lull in the war. Key enemy infiltration routes lead from Cambodia into Tay Ninh eastward toward Saigon.

The new figures brought the war's U.S. death toll to 26,793 as opposed to 379,564 for the enemy.

New Madrid Enlarged School District Called Model- Largest in Missouri

By WARREN SOKOLIS

NEW MADRID - Newly elected members of the board of the New Madrid County R-I enlarged school district met in their first regular meeting Tuesday night.

Present were Arvil Adams, Portageville, president; Tom Maschmeyer, Lilbourn, vice president; James R. Blades, Parma, treasurer; Markus Koch, Matthews, secretary; A. C. Riley, New Madrid, and Paul E. Mahar, Marston.

Meeting with the board at its first session were Arthur Summers, Director of school district reorganization, Randall Tedlock, Director of finance, and Huey D. Cook, district supervisor, all from the Missouri State department of education at Jefferson City.

It was pointed out by Summers that the new district is now the largest in the state in area and would serve as a pattern of reorganization. It has, he said, unlimited educational potential with both the financial and human resources to set the educational pace for rural Missouri.

Tedlock commented on the need for the efficient and orderly transition of the business affairs of the new district and suggested how this could be accomplished.

Cook suggested curricular priorities to assure children a quality education.

In executive session, the board selected Max Timmons, superintendent of schools, Lilbourn, to serve as temporary administrative officer. He will set up a staff and merge the administrative and business affairs of the district.

The board voted to employ Hearnes, Albers and Stewart, certified public accountants, to set up a data processing accounting system.

Adams suggested that the board rotate the place of the monthly meetings until each school had been visited and its facilities and operation inspected.

The next regular meeting will be in Portageville, Sept. 17.

The district was formed last month when voters approved the consolidation of the Portagveille R-I, Parma R-3, Lilbourn R-4, Matthews R-5, New Madrid R-6 and Higgerson districts.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

The thunder that George Wallace is making across the land has begun to attract a listening audience of Democrats as well as Republicans.

Wallace has shown surprising strength in the polls. He continues to gain. When he speaks he makes sense to a lot of people.

Millions of Americans are discontented in this presidential election year. Nobody knows just where they will take their discontent on election day but a new face, a new approach, even a new political party has more than usual appeal.

Some of the same elements that make Wallace attractive are at work for Sen. Eugene McCarthy, Minnesota Democrat.

There are many Americans, who would like to elect a president who acted in the behalf of all the people instead of George Meany, the National Association of Manufacturers, the United States Chamber of Commerce, the National Rifle Association, the postal clerks, the trucking lobby or other pressure group.

The reason that maybe a new man might not know any better at first than do what he thought was best for the country and not on the basis of what was acceptable to some lobbying or special interest group or their leaders.

Who knows. George or Gene might be just such a guy!

The assumption had been until recently that Wallace would clobber the Republicans in the South and benefit the Democratic candidate.

Vice President Humbert Humphrey can no longer rely on this.

Labor chieftains have discovered that many of their rank and file like Wallace and they may not be able to deliver the votes for Humphrey.

This is indeed disquieting for a man who has played footsie with the labor union chiefs throughout his political career.

The Republicans haven't been asleep to the challenge. Even though their grip on the South always has been unreliable, Richard Nixon, the Republican nominee, lost no time in trying to woo the south.

This was a major reason for choosing Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland as his vice presidential running mate.

This may force Humphrey to choose a running mate in the South more acceptable to the region than he is.

This is a presidential year when no aspirant to the nation's highest office can be written off immediately as inconsequential.

Every man's a king in 1968.

SCHOOL BELLS AGAIN

With the coming of August, the hottest days of summer are upon the land. With this climax of the seasons will come the month of September -- the time for millions of young people to return once again to tens of thousands of schoolrooms across the land.

In today's world, the sum total of man's knowledge is exploding upward at an accelerating pace. It takes many more years of schooling to become well trained in any field and further to become a well educated human being with the estiblished, permanent desire and ability to continue the learning process throughout life.

The cost of education today is a major tax burden. With this in mind, many of the "older generation" sometimes voice the doubt that "all this schooling is really worth it." They wonder what kind of crop of young people we are raising. Protesters, sit-inners, rioters and school dropouts get a deal of publicity, but they are a tiny proportion of our school population and would probably be in trouble wherever they were and whether they had any education or not.

The real promise of the future lies in the vast majority of hardworking young people who look forward to school days opening again this fall – not only for the social companionship, excitement and fun of activities, but also, because they feel the stimulation of learning about their heritage and opportunities and exploring the vast fields of knowledge now being unfolded to man's mind. As the school bells ring again, we all should wish them well.

A new physical therapy department is just one element of the expanding role of usefulness of the Missouri Delta Community hospital to Southeast Missouri.

This department will promote healing, restore people to normal pursuits more rapidly and permit them to lead normal or nearly normal lives.

It has a powerful impact on the lives of people in the Bootheel.

But it also will exert an econimic influence that is not minor.

The hospital's usefulness increased, more patients will be attracted, more families visit Sikeston and more dollars flow into the community.

This does more than make doctors prosperous because these people buy food, gasoline and shop for other items.

It will save money, too, in many instances for those needing physical therapy because they can live at home and receive treatment.

It won't be necessary to make long, expensive trips for treatment. Costs can be held down in other important respects.

As the hospital grows so to some extent does the community grow into a better place in which to live and work.

The campaign to raise funds for the new hospital addition never did hit its mark.

Anyone who wishes can write a check made payable to the fund and mail it directly to the hospital.

It still is a good investment and no one knows who may be benefitted next.

CHIPS ARE DOWN

While some of us are old enough to recall the melodramas which featured "dirty work at the crossroads" and other cliff-hanging scenes, we were disturbed to read about the campaign to wipe out the House Committee on UnAmerican Activities.

The article pointed out the newest tactic of the liberal establishment to eliminate the power of this committee "has now been introduced in Congress as H. R. 148."

This provides that the name of the committee shall be changed to the Committee on Internal Security. Changing the name is a neat trick which means that new members can be appointed and that 30 years of seniority attained by members of the present committee would be wiped out.

Moreover, the bill represents a threat to the stability of the legislative process. The Dallas Morning News points out these two reasons why this is so:

If a liberal caucus can kill this committee, which it doesn't like, it can kill any committee which it doesn't like.

HCUA has become the public's last resort as a source of investigation and prosecution of subversive activities when the administration refuses to act through the Department of Justice in these matters.

If this bill should pass, the riots and violence hurled at the committee by left-wing groups bent on destroying the American system of politics will have been rewarded.

This is what happens when legislators take the easy way out.

We don't believe the American people will stand for such behind-the-scenes manipulation on such an important committee that seeks to defend our American heritage.

TRENDS: An important new shade in knitted sport shirts and sweaters is "cognac," a deep but vibrant reddish-brown (or brownish-red, if you prefer).. formal turtlenecks have brought about a trend that seems of importance - the introduction of the deep tones in formal shirts. Colors like french blue, melon, grey, raspberry and lime are all being well-received. Many come with a matching butterfly bowtie - or one in a lighter shade of the same color... There are innumerable men who - by natural fashion choice or by the fact that they are overweight around the middle - would prefer to have pleats in their slacks. And it's good news to them that such trousers are again appearing in the stores.

The United States government, the largest concern in the world, has only one Vice President. But an ordinary industry often has ten to 20 vice presidents. Just such a concern had 20 such officers and held a secret meeting of them behind closed doors. They singled out one of these vice presidents and asked him: 'Did you ever have an affair with our beautiful stenographer, Nellie? Did you ever take her home after office hours, give her presents or call her up?"

'No, absolutely never!"

"That's fine! Now, you'll have to be the one to fire her."

AIR TRAVEL HEADACHES

In the airline business, apparently, nothing exceeds like success.

Expecting a passenger volume of 230 million people a year by 1975, airline executives, airport managers and architects are already getting headaches trying to figure out how to handle all of them.

Just getting 500-some passengers on and off one of the new jumbo jets will be problem enough, let alone arranging for all their baggage to turn up in different cities.

One suggestion that is being run through the fan jet to see if it smokes is to "preload" passengers. This has nothing to do with liquor, although that might help.

The idea is to have passenger pallets that would move into an airplane with passengers already in their seats, thus saving enplaning and deplaning time.

It's coming to that.

THE PLIGHT OF THE NON—CONFORMISTS

How do you stay ahead of the flock? In his attire, as in other things, today's man does not want to be a conformist. And there's the problem. Just look back to a few months ago, suggests the American institute of men's and boy's wear, when several non-conformists, tired of wearing dress shirts and black ties with their formal clothes, boldly substituted turtleneck shirts. They swept the country, and all at once the non-conformists became conformists again! That's a hazard accompanying the so-called "Peacock Revolution." The fashion - conscious want to look different, and they end up looking alike. Now the big push is on the Nehru jackets, and they too are selling on a big way. But the pattern is forseeable. All at once, the non- conformist wearers will be conformists all over again! Like the man said, "it's a puzzlement."

H.L. Hunt Says

SOVIET SUBMARINE ACTIVITY

Admiral Rickover recently testified that the Defense Department has ordered a halt to the building of new Polaris, type submarines. This decision is expecially unwise in view of the increased activity by Soviet submarines.

United States intelligence authorities have reported that the Soviets are now operating a constant submarine patrol off both coasts of the U. S. and in the Gulf of Mexico. Most of these submarines are nuclear powered and use a newly built naval base in Cuba.

These vessels chart U.S. coasts and keep a close watch on the arrivals and departures of Polaris submarines. They have also been known to carry espionage agents from Cuba to the United States.

The Soviets have approximately ninety-five missile-carrying submarines in their fleet of 500. The other vessels are often used to follow Polaris submarines on their patrols, thus providing Moscow with important intelligence date.

This activity by Soviet submarines shows that the Kremlin is increasingly aware of the importance of these vessels in a defense system. Our Defense Department, on the other hand, seems to be forgetting their importance.

General Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, recently said: 'There is no question but that the Soviets . . . have improved their military capabilities vis-a-vis the United States over the past several years." General Wheeler went on to say that the United States has all of the resources necessary to remedy the situation and to restore our military superiority.

One of the first areas in which steps should be taken is in production and deployment of more nuclear-powered Polaris submarines. HLH

Hal Boyle

Of fat and fate: If you have to diet, you're a born loser

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Guess what three-letter word is causing the most trouble in our fair land?

Hah, I thought you'd say sex. Well, you're wrong, friend.

Sex is for the birds and the bees. Fat is for people.

A government report the other day made the complacent claim that very few Americans suffer from dire hunger. Pure gobbledygook. What about the 30-to-40 million blubber-laden U.S. citizens who are dieting?

That's about a fifth of the nation. They feel constantly on the verge of starving. Doesn't their hunger count? It is very real to them.

Personally, I've been on a diet for 48 days and managed to shrink from a wholesome 220 pounds down to 196. My final goal is 180, and it looks farther away than Valhalla or ShangriLa.

The only word for the ordeal is agony. I'd probably have expired weeks ago except for the dog biscuits I was able to sneak and gnaw down when my wife wasn't looking. It has gotten so bad that when I go into the kitchen at the dog's mealtime, he puts his paw on his plate to protect his dinner.

I went on the diet after my doctor examined me and said, "well, you're in shipshape condition."

'Thank you, doc."

"But the ship you're shaped like is a battleship," he said. "Take it off, take it off, take it off."

Easier said than done.

America is the only country in the world where it is easier to lose your mind than it is to lose weight. It is the only country where middle age automatically seems to turn a man from a girl watcher into a weight watcher.

Everything conspires against the person on a diet. He may have lived like a hermit before, but as soon as he goes on a diet he is inundated with invitations to cocktail parties, ba barbecues, picnics and gc dinners with nine courses.

All at once very one h knew wants to take him to or buy him five drinks. I accepts, then sticks to his regimen of sauerkraut and club soda water, he assumes the role of the skeleton at the feast. If he ducks the invitations, he is dubbed an ungracious heel.

If he talks about his dieting victories to his friends, they decide he has turned into a braggart and dull bore. If he keeps his trap shut about his diet—and it is, of course, the overwhelming thing on his mind—they decide he's turned into a secretive and sullen boor.

It might be thought that dieters at least could find solace and comfort in conversing with each other about their problems. If the other guy has lost 5 ounces more than you have, don't want to listen to him. you've lost 11 ounches more he has, he doesn't want to list to you.

In any case, each of you is sure the other is lying.

Worst of all are the hallucinations. Everything reminds you of a forbidden food. If looking at pretty girls is one of your innocent pleasures in life, it is rather unnerving when you see one to have her, right before your startled eyes, suddenly turn into a chicken dumpling, a mound of mashed potatoes, or a threedecker club sandwich.

Is it all really worth the reward? The reward comes after you finally win the battle against fat, accept the doctor's congratulations, and meet an old pal on the trip home.

"Man, have you been sick?" he asks. "You look like a shadow of your old self. Take a tip from me and put on some weight."

It would be nice to punch him in the nose—if you didn't feel so feeble.

That's the biggest blow to a dieting fatty—even if he loses he rarely wins.

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: Lobbyists had field day during closing rush of congress; truckers' contributions of $75,000 greased way for trucking bills; publicity stopped one truck bill.

WASHINGTON -- Lobbyists always have a field day during the closing, hectic days of congress. They know that when congressmen are in a rush to adjourn, they have a better chance of sneaking special - privilege bills past an unsuspecting public.

Seldom have the lobbyists been so blatant and successful as during the last weeks of July as congress was about to recess. Fortunately, however, congress adjourned for the conventions, thereby giving a breathing space for the public and the President to catch up. That's why LBJ has been giving serious consideration to a veto for the highway bill.

Three significant bills were the objective of the truckers' lobby, with assists from the American roadbuilders association, the tire, oil, gas, and concrete lobby.

Lobbying push No. 1 was to limit farm co-op trucks from carrying commercial products on their round trips after delivering farm products to market. This bill was rushed through the house of representatives after 7 out of 9 members on the house subcommittee received campaign contributions from the American trucking association, including Sam Friedel, D-Md., $2,000; John Dingell, D-Mich., $1,500; Samuel Devine, R-Ohio, $1,000; Albert Watson, R-S.C. $1,500; Brock Adams, D-Wash., $1,000; Daniel Ronan, D-Ill., $500; and Glenn Cunningham, R-NEB., $500.

SENATE CONTRIBUTIONS

All are members of the subcommittee of the House Interstate Commerce Committee which considered the trucking bill against farm co-ops. The bill was opposed by the defense department, the budget bureau, the agriculture department and the department of transportation.

Nevertheless, it was passed after only one day of committee hearings, brought to the house floor before the hearings were printed and passed under a suspension of the rules which permitted no amendments. It also slipped through the senate in record form, where liberal campaign contributions were given to Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., $2,000, and Sen. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., $2,375.

Finally it slipped through the White House and was signed into law by the President.

Lobbying push No. 2 was staged by the truckers to double the size of triple-trailer trucks on the federal thruways, which Fred Schwengel, R-Iowa, warned would legalize small "freight trains" and Richard McLaughlin, Massachusetts registrar or motor vehicles, said would make it impossible for motorists to pass safely without at least half a mile of clear-sight distance.

The bill would permit trailer trucks' weight to increase from 73,280 pounds to about 138,000 pounds; would permit almost unlimited length, increase width from 8 to 8½ feet.

Nick Kotz of the Des Moines Register and William Steif of the Scripps-Howard Newspapers deserve credit for revealing the original truckers' lobby contributions to key congressmen. Their revelations were not quick enough to head off the farm co-op bill, but did sidetrack the truck trailer increase bill.

It passed the senate with almost no objection at all, perhaps because the truckers' contributions had been discreetly placed in the campaign kitties of key senators. But disclosure that a total of around $75,000 had been contributed for the truckers' lobby has made some congressmen run for cover, and the second trucking bill has been stopped.

Lobbying push No. 3 secured passage of the federal highway bill which has some important new features such as relocation help for people displaced by thruways and provision for fringe parking on the edge of big cities. But it also undercuts the beautification program, weakens the limitation on billboards, fails to protect parks and historic sites, etc., and forces some local communities to build thruways and bridges they do not want.

Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco battled against the highway lobby to prevent it from building a freeway through the Crystal Springs area, 23,000 acres of parkland near San Francisco.

Mayor Alioto was vigorous in lecturing the highway lobbyists:

"You have overreached yourselves. You are worse than the Southern Pacific in its heyday when Hiram Johnson broke it up. When you get a complex of truckers, tire companies, concrete companies, oil and gas companies, you have one of the most powerful lobbies in the United States. And what the public doesn't realize is that the taxpayers are putting up 90 per cent of the money for thruways which the lobby wants to run through some of the most beautiful parkland in the nation.

"I have never seen such an arrogant array of power," said the Mayor of San Francisco. "You fellows should reread history. You have overstepped yourselves."

Though the highway lobby did not succeed in forcing a mandatory route through the crystal springs park, it did succeed in inserting into the bill a requirement that the District of Columbia build a thruway which the courts have ruled against - at least until public hearings are held -- plus construction of the three sisters bridge across the Potomac which D. C. officials do not want.

These are some of the reasons President Johnson has been concerned over the highway bill.

Note: When this column revealed on July 15 that John Kluczynski, Chicago Democrat and chairman of the subcommittee on highways, had bowed to the lobbies on certain provisions of the highway bill, the congressman issued a categoric denial. He said: "I don't associate with lobbyists and I don't accept contributions from them and I didn't yield anything to the lobbyists on the bill." It was later revealed that Kluczynski accepted $3,000 in campaign contributions from the American Truckers Association.

Cynthia Lynn Walters Weds James Thomas Hall Sunday

Cynthia Lynn Walters and James Thomas Hall of Cape Girardeau were married at 4 p.m. Sunday in the First Christian church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Walters, 926 Hawthorne. Hall is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Hall, 6 Sylvan Lane, Cape Girardeau.

The Rev. Joseph Wagner officiated at the double ring ceremony. The church was decorated with a 15-branch arch candelabra, white Fuji pompons, eight aisle candles, two nine-branch candelabra and a kneeling bench.

Mrs. J.E. Childress was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length princess style linen gown. A wide band of shell pattern scalloped Venetian lace accented the dress hemline, train, elbow-length sleeves and high oriental neckline. The chapel-length train was attached at the shoulders with covered buttons. Covered buttons extended down the back of the gown.

A queen's crown of the lace outlined with handcut crystals secured a two tiered bouffant veil of English silk illusion. She carried a mantilla bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids with light green caladium leaves.

Miss Robin Walters, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Linda Lansing of Malden, the bride's cousin, and Mrs. Gary Robertson of Jennings. Miss Debra Lansing of Malden, the bride's cousin, was junior bridesmaid.

They wore apricot linen dresses fashioned with scooped necklines and raglan sleeves. The empire waistlines were accented with yellow and moss green flower motifs and moss green velvet bows with floor-length streamers. Each carried a long stem yellow Fuji mum with yellow ribbon and moss green velvet leaves. Miss Walters wore yellow Fuji pompons sprinkled in her hair. The bridesmaids wore yellow Fuji pompon tiaras. They wore linen cloth shoes of moss green.

Mrs. Walters wore a mint green silk brocade dress and jacket with moss green accessories. Mrs. Hall wore a three piece suit of beige silk and worsted with coffee colored accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of phalaenopsis orchids.

The couple received their guests at a reception at the church. A columned wedding cake appointed the bride's table and was topped by a miniature bridal couple surrounded by fresh miniature pompons. Two nine branched candelabra flanked the cake. A circular groom's cake and an arrangment of white mums appointed another table.

Serving were Mrs. Vivan Reed of Malden, Mrs. John Hughes of Florissant, Miss Betty Ebbeson of Campbell and Miss Suzanne Hedrick of Sikeston. Mrs. Rebecca Sharp of New Madrid was in charge.

Mrs. Douglas Reid of Bridgeton was in charge of the guest book.

The couple will live on Flint Hill Drive in Cape Girardeau.

Choir Begins 10th Year

The Sikeston Community Choir, under the direction of Gordon Beaver and accompanied by Mrs. Pam Blackman, will begin its 10th anniversary year at the first rehearsal Sept. 5, at 7:15 p.m. in the high school choral room.

Plans for the choir will again feature two public formal concerts. The first will be the ninth annual Christmas concert Dec. 15, at 3 p.m. The place has not yet been determined for this traditional concert, but the public will have plenty of room to sit and enjoy this concert. It has always been given at the First Methodist church.

The choir was organized in December of 1959. The sole purpose, at that time, was the singing of Christmas carols at the hospital and at the homes of shut-ins. A group of 29 interested adults got together, learned the music, and went caroling that Christmas season of 1959. The group did not want to disband in January, 1960, so rehearsals were established, more members added, and the first spring Concert was held in April, 1960. The Sikeston Community Choir and the High School Concert Choir joined forces in June, 1960 and formed the 100-voiced Centennial Choir which performed during the week of the Sikeston Centennial Pageant in 1960. From this beginning, the Community Choir has made many public performances for civic organizations in and around Sikeston during these past 10 years. By April the Sikeston Community Choir will have given 22 formal public concerts. This cultural organization makes money only from free-will offerings and public performances during the year. Much of the music and equipment have been purchased by this manner.

As always, the Community Choir encourages new members to try-out for this organization and old members who have dropped out are also encouraged and invited to rejoin the group and renew friendships. All types of voices are welcome to try-out. The try-outs are private, and relatively easy. One needs only to have the reliability and dependability to belong, plus the desire to learn.

Try-outs will continue until Sept. 12. Anyone wishing to try-out call Gordon Beaver, 471-0126, for a try-out time that will be convenient. Low basses are especially needed and there are vacancies for the other mens' parts. Women's parts in all sections, will be limited because of the shortage of choir robes.

If there are any individuals who sang in the Sikeston Community Choir during the 1967-68 season, and who will not be with the group this fall, please notify Beaver as soon as possible so that more new members can be added and more definite plans can be made.

Hitter Break Through In NL

The whiff turned into the wham and the basepaths locked like freeways. In the National League Wednesday it was the day of the hitter in this year of the pitcher.

Instead of swinging and missing as so often has been the case this year, the batters seemed to be hitting every ball thrown their way.

The five winning teams banged out 93 hits and scored 64 runs in six games. Even the losing clubs managed 50 hits.

The Chicago Cubs and San Francisco Giants started the barrage in the afternoon. The Cubs whipped Atlanta 5-4 and 13-5 and the Giants trounced the New York Mets 13-3.

Pittsburgh climaxed the assault at night with a 19-1 walloping of Cincinnati. In between, St. Louis topped Philadelphia 8-3 and Houston ripped Los Angeles 6-1.

In the American League, Detroit edged the Chicago White Sox 3-2 in 10 innings, the New York Yankees downed Minnesota 2-1, Cleveland whipped Boston 8-2 and Baltimore nipped California 4-3 in 15 innings.

Oakland and Washington ere not scheduled.

Pittsburgh's 19 runs were high for he majors this season. So were the Pirates 23 hits.

Matty Alou and Gene Alley both collected four hits and Manny Mota, Roberto Clenente and Bill Mazeroski three apiece for the Pirates.

In the second game, the Cubs, who had trailed 5-0, went ahead to stay, 7-5, on Williams' two-run single in the sixth.

Willie Mays highlighted a sixrun San Francisco fifth inning with a two-run homer, his 16th of the season and 580th of his carreer, and Juan Marichal coasted to his 23rd victory of the season.

While the Giants were batting in the sixth, their dugout and that of the Mets and the tarpualin were searched after New York police received two calls that a bomb had been planted. Nothing was found and play continued after a delay of about five minutes.

The crowd of 32,023 was not disturbed during the bomb search.

Phil Gagliano and Tim McCarver both singled in two runs in St. Louis' victory over Philadelphia. The Cardinals took a 4-3 lead in the fifth on run-scoring singles by Gagliano, Bob Tolan and Roger Maris.

Rusty Staub provided the big bat for Houston, whose 10 hits were the lowest total for any winning team. Staub singled home one of two runs in the third and then singled in a pair is the fifth.

CORNING'S entry into the South Plains regional baseball tournament failed to post a victory, although it out-hit the two opponents it faced before being eliminated. Frey's Slam Lifts Cape

CHARLESTON -- A grand slam home run by Greg Frey boosted Cape Girardeau National past Bell City 7-0 last night as action continued in the invitational Little League baseball tournament.

Illmo - Scott City out-ran Charleston in the opening contest, taking a 7-2 decision over the host. Both teams collected six hits apiece, but Illmo outscored its opponents. McClain was the winner.

Bell City's Jackson absorbed the loss as Cape Tallied first in the first and took a 2-0 lead before Frey poked the ball over with the bases loaded for a 6-0 lead. Its last run came in the fourth.

Tonight's scheduled has Benton and Sikeston battling at 7 p.m. and Illmo - Scott City squaring off against Cape at 8:30 p.m.

The recently organized Sugar Creek Country Club at Piggott, Arkansas has announced that they will hold their first annual Four Ball Golf Tournament August 30, 31, and September 1. Competition will be over 36 holes with four flights, Championship A, B, and C. Sugar Creek Country Club opened their course last March for play, and the course has 9 holes with exceptionally large dwarf bermuda grass greens.

The qualifying round of 18 holes determines the flight and will count on the total score of 36 holes. Contestants may qualify for other than Championship flight on August 30 or may qualify Saturday, August 30. Championship flight qualifying will be on Saturday, August 31, only.

Free practice rounds may be played any time from August 25 through August 29 for paid entries.

A barbecued chicken dinner is planned for Sunday noon that will be free of charge to all contestants.

Golf carts may be used and brought to the course for use in the competition.

The tournament will be limited to the first 64 paid entries. Trophies will be awarded the winners of each flight, and gift certificates will be awarded to the first three places in each flight. A long - driving contest is also planned,

All area golfers are invited to enter the competition.

Trolling can cause even the best behaved of fishing lines to act like a teen-ager doing the twist.

To prevent twisted and fouled lines caused by trolling, the fishering experts offer a few ideas that lessen this ever present problem.

It's important to realize that nearly all lures will revolve while being towed underwater. But, they do not all turn in the same direction.

Before chucking a lure over the transom, check its natural direction of spin by dragging the plug or piece of hardware alongside for a few seconds. Do this with several different lures. When the time comes to snap on a new one, select a model that revolves in the opposite direction.

Swivels should always be used between line and lure. They help some, but do not prevent twist.

Keels or keel sinkers rigged ahead of the plug are far more effective in eliminating problems.

Keels have another value that is seldom recognized. Bright metal styles often call attention to the trailing bait of lure and result in a greater number of strikes. They also reduce short striking incidents, particularly when long eels or pork rinds are used.

At intervals, remove the plug and allow the line torrum free from a few minutes. Do this again while cruising back to the dock at day's end.

The twist may be okay for the kids, but let's keep it out of fishing.

Manager Leo Durocher of the Chicago Cubs and relief ace Phil Regan are satisfied, but National League President Warren Giles might have picked up a king sized headache over the illegal pitch incident.

Giles met with Durocher, Regan and John Holland, vice president of the Cubs, Tuesday and then issued a statement absolving Regan of any wrong doing in Sunday's hassle over illegal pitches.

Umpire Chris Pelekoudas called illegal pitches on Regan during the first game of a doubleheader with Cincinnati. Pelekoudas said he couldn't find any evidence on the ball but he was sure a foreign substance was being used by Regan after seeing the flight of the ball.

"A sinker spins when it breaks," said Pelekoudas. "And a ball with Vaseline on it breaks down without a spin."

Durocher and two other Cubs were thrown out of the game following heated arguments, and Regan had his head, face and the sweat band of his cap wiped off by Umpire Shag Crawford.

The Cubs demanded a hearing.

Giles, in absolving Regan, said, "I know Phil and have respect for him and felt a gentleman like he should be shown the consideration and courtesy of hearing him.

"Phil told me he did not have Vaseline or other lubricant on his sweat band and I believe him," said Giles.

"Chris Pelekoudas suspected he did have lubricant of some kind, but told me his judgment of an illegal pitch was based almost entirely on the action on the ball in flight, and seems convinced it acted like a so-called spit ball."

"This is a most difficult problem for the umpires and they are being urged on all sides to enforce violators of illegal pitches."

Giles said he would talk to the Crawford umpiring crew when the umpires arrive in Cincinnati later this week. The other members of the crew are Doug Harvey and John Kibler.

Giles said he would confer with them and other umpiring crews as to "how is the best way to handle this perplexing problem - uniformity in enforcement is very desirable."

Giles said he had not talked to the umpires and had not issued any new instructions such as telling the umpires to cease the practice initiated by Pelekoudas of calling illegal pitches because of the flight of the ball.

However, it seemed the umpires got the message merely by the presence of Giles in Chicago. Regan worked during the sixth and seventh innings of Tuesday's game and went through his usual motions and pitched as he always has. This time no illegal pitches were called and Crawford was behind the plate.

The three leaders in races for 1968 championships in professional rodeo's riding events each won top money in their specialties at the Sidney, Ia., rodeo, which ended its 10-performance run Sunday.

The Rodeo Cowboys Association said there were 173 entries at Sidney, competing for shares of $24,695. The All Around Cowboy (winning the most in two or more events) was Tom Bews, Longview, Alta., who pocketed $1,336 in saddle bronc riding and steer wrestling.

Clyde Vamvoras, Burkburnett, Tex., 1967 bareback bronc riding champion, enhanced his lead for the 1968 crown by winning that event and $999, bringing his season's take to $17,539. Shawn Davis, Whitehall, Mont., last year's saddle bronc riding king, won $764 at Sidney and has the event lead for the year with $15,342.

George Paul, 21, Del Rio, Tex., in only his second full year as a pro, won the Sidney bull riding, worth $812, and extended his season's lead to $15,659.

In second place in world bull riding charts is 47-year-old Freckles Brown, Soper, Okla. Brown was operated on for a blood clot in his leg during the Sidney rodeo, and is temporarily sidelined.

Rodeos also ended at Rapid City, S.D., and Louisville, Ky., over the weekend.

Ralph Maynard, formerly of Eagle Butte, S.D., and now of Cody, Wyo., has made a strong surge recently in saddle bronc riding. He won that event at Rapid City, placed fourth at Sidney, and pocketed $1,055.

Pat Chapman of Sturgis, S D., a collegiate rodeo titlist, won $812 in bareback and saddle bronc riding at Rapid city.

One of the big weekend money winners was Tony Haberer, Andrews, Tex., who picked up $636 in bareback bronc and bull riding in South Dakota, plus $436 in bull riding at Sidney. Haberer, pro rodeo's 1966 Rookie of the Year, is now ranked ninth in world All Around standings, third in bull riding and 12th in bareback bronc riding.

The biggest money-grabber was Sonny Worrell, Altoona, Kan., who snared $1,722 in calf roping at Sidney.

Bobby Goodspeed of High Ridge, Mo., lived up to his name, winning $750 in calf roping at Louisville.

Louisville's All Around titlist was H. B. Johnson, Horatio, Ark., who won $584 in bareback bronc riding and steer wrestling. Anson Thurman, Fallon, Nev., was the All Around titlist at Rapid City, winning $847 in steer wrestling and calf roping. Rapid City had 127 entries, with $9,549 in prize money, while Louisville had 88 entries and $8,520 up for grabs.

The world's All Around crownholder in 1966 and '67, Larry Mahan, 24, Brooks, Ore., had a relatively slow week. Mahan has been winning at better than a $1,000-a-week clip, but took in only $801 at Sidney in the three riding events. Mahan holds the 1968 All Around lead with $32,210. In second place is Omaha's Jim Houston with $26,245.

Jack Roddy of San Jose, Calif., brought his season's steer wrestling lead to $20,995 by winning $654 in that event at Moses Lake, Wash. Roddy appears certain to break that event's money record of $30,715, set last year by Oklahoma's Roy Duvall, who trails Roddy for this year's crown, the R.C.A. said.

Head Coach, William R. Sapp, and Line Coach Norman Lambert discuss plans prior to last night's scrimmage of the Sikeston high school football team.

Bulldogs Sharp in Scrimmage

By DAN SPEARS
STANDARD SPORTS EDITOR

The Bulldogs gridders held their first scrimmage of the season last night. Head Coach Bill Sapp is confident of his team after the tenth practice for the experienced gridmen.

With more than three weeks remaining before opening night against the Mayfield, Ky., eleven, Sapp dommented that he was pleased with the progress of the boys.

The morning practice yesterday was cut relatively short because of the heat but was back in full swing at night. Before the hard hitting twenty-five minute scrimmage the squad was split into groups. The boys went through strenuous agility drills.

Coach Norman Lambert, head line coach, commented that the interior line was shaping up as good, if not better, than could be expected so early in the season. "Condition and speed is evident in this years squad," voiced Coach Sapp. In the backfield. Halfback Dennis Snelling and Art Jackson both fly through the 100-yard dash in 9.9 seconds, followed by Fullback Turner Marshall, who runs it in 10.2 seconds. Quarterback Bruce Farris also pushes on across not to far behind. Another senior prospective halfback, who is also blessed with speed, is Terry Bryant. Bryant, a defensive specialist, has been showing great improvement on offense.

Today's practices are both scheduled in the daytime, so as not to have two night practices in a row. The practices were at 9 a.m. this morning and 3 p.m. this afternoon, concentrating on short drills and conditioning.

The Dogs are supposed to be back in full swing Friday night with another short scrimmage.

Trades Highlight Football Circuit

Thirty-one is a pretty young age to start a comeback. But Art Powell, hoping a game knee that cut short a brilliant American Football League career will hold up, was trying just that today with Minnesota Vikings.

Powell, a wide receiver signed by the National Football League team Wednesday as a free agent, caught enough passes in eight seasons with the New York Jets, Oakland Raiders and Buffalo Bills to rank second among all-time AFL receivers.

But he was curtailed by a knee injury last season and the Bills finally turned him loose.

The 6-foot-2, 212-pounder snared 478 passes for 8,015 yards during his AFL career and his total of 81 touchdown receptions is a league record. He also ranks fourth among alltime AFL scoring leaders with 486 points.

The Vikings also traded a draft choice to Baltimore Wednesday for another wide receiver, Rich O'Hara, the Colts' No. 3 draft pick,.

In Florida, things were almost back to normal at the Miami Dolphins' camp, where a slight siege of the flu struck several players earlier in the week.

Coach George Wilson said the entire squad should be at full strength for an exhibition with Boston-one of four preseason games on tap Friday night.

Other activity that evening has San Francisco, NFL, at Denver, AFL; Baltimore, NFL, at Detroit, NFL, and Buffalo, AFL, vs. Houston, AFL, at Tulsa, Okla.

The Dophins also announced they had traded John Roderick, who appeared in only one game last season after undergoing a back operation, to Oakland for an undisclosed draft choice. Two seasons ago, as a rookie, Roderick caught 11 passes for 154 yards in five games.

In other developments around the training camps, Pittsburgh signed holdout Frank Parker, a defensive tackle. Parker was obtained in a four-man trade with Cleveland but refused to report to the Steelers' camp because, he said, he wasn't offered enough money.

The Boston Patriots place four players on waivers, including veteran split and Jerry Lamb, who spent three ears with Kansas City before being signed by the Pats as a free agent, and rockie linebacker Burl Wood of West Texas State.

Defensive tackle Henry Jordan practiced for the first time since he was injured in the College All-Star Game as the Green Bay Packers worked out for the first time since Monday night's loss to Chicago-second straight exhibition loss for the world champs.

However, it was doubtful that Jordan would be ready in time for the Packers' game at Dallas Saturday night.

Meanwhile, the Bears' defensive tackle, John Johnson, who received the game ball after Chicago's stunner, will be lost for at least two months because of a small bone fracture.

Johnson apparently played part of the game with the Packers with the fracture but it wasn't discovered until two days later.

Col. E. I. (Mike) Hockaday, patrol superintendent, said Luker probably will be assigned to the new patrol training academy when he completes the administrative course next June. The academy is being built near patrol headquarters here.

Farm Program Checks Being Distributed

BENTON - The Scott county Agriculteral, Stablization and Conservation Service committee has authorized distribution of payments under the 1968 feed grain and cotton programs to begin Aug. 15.

These payments are being handed to farmers who drop by the office. Others are mailed to program participants.

Payments under the 1968 wheat program were authorized to be made beginning July 15. Most producers already have received their share. These drafts are computed and written in New Orleans then mailed to the county ASC offices for distribution.

"If you do not receive your check within the next week or so, it is probably because we have not received it from New Orleans," Kenneth E. Vowels, office manager said. "As soon as they arrive in the county office they will be signed and forwarded to producers."

Annual program payments to feed grain participants in the county in 1967 amounted to approximately $635,000. County cotton program cooperators received approximately $1 million for cutting back 1967 crop production.

A target date of Sept. 1 has been set for completion of payments to farmers."

Researchers Seek Better Combat Rations

An important military commodity, but one that is not often noticed, is under constant study by food scientists and technologists at the U.S. Army Natick Laboratories, Natick, Mass.

That commodity is a combat soldier's meal, something nourishing, yet tasty; lightweight and easy to carry, yet simple to prepare.

Infantrymen on long-range patrols in Vietnam quickly discovered that the food supply they were able to carry with them became immensely important in the jungles where normal resupply was impossible.

To make this food supply better, Natick Labs has an extensive research and development program to improve the quality of the food and develop rations that are suitable for use under widely varying tactical conditions.

Among the items prepared for field use is the Long Range Patrol Food Packet. This consists of a precooked, dehydrated combination food in a package that can also be used to reconstitute the food. In addition to the main meal, the packet contains a confection, cereal or fruitcake bar, coffee, cream, sugar and, sometimes, cocoa beverage.

Currently, food specialists at Natick are working to perfect a special kind of dehydration—called freeze drying—to improve the long range patrol rations.

Freeze drying is a fairly new method of food preservation that also results in significant weight reduction. This process appears to be suitable for preservation of all types of meats, fruits and vegetables, making it possible to supply a greater variety of dehydrated foods.

Also, freeze drying results in substantially better taste than some other dehydration methods. When water is added, the product closely resembles the original product in flavor, texture, shape and size.

In the research and development program at Natick, two operations are involved in freeze drying. The first is freezing the food in essentially the same manner as conventional food freezing.

The second operation is the drying. The frozen product is placed in a vacuum chamber and the ice is removed by a process called sublimation, in which the ice crystals pass directly into a vapor without melting.

The whole process takes four to 16 hours, depending on the food. The dehydrated product retains its shape, which results in faster and more complete rehydration.

In the field, the dehydrated foods can be reconstituted with hot or cold water, or, if necessary, eaten dry — like popcorn — with drinking water. (ANF)

Artist's drawing shows field use of dehydrated foods packaged for soldiers.

WALLACE TO BE ON MISSOURI BALLOT
Floyd Kitchen (right), Missouri Co-ordinator, talks to the radio and TV audience as he presents the ballot petitions for George Wallace to Secretary of State James Kirkpatrick. The petitions, filed under the name of the American Party of Missouri, contained over 62,000 signatures. The minimum required to enter Wallace's name on the ballot was 18,400. The petitions were the result of thousands of volunteer workers all over the State who carried on a "face to face" campaign to get Wallace's name on the ballot in Missouri. Missouri was the 40th State qualified for ballot position and Wallace expects to be on the ballot in 48 States.

River Travelers Stop In Caruthersville

CARUTHERSVILLE Last Thursday, two bearded characters walked into the Pemiscot Publishing Company in Caruthersville. They had traveled from the northern end of the Mississippi river and were heading to New Orleans.

Dan Glasco and Clarence Redburn, both of Michigan, decided last May that they were going to travel down the Mississippi, the full length. The first thing needed to travel on the river is a boat, and the two men built one in two weeks. The boat is about twelve feet long, two or three feet wide, and weights approximately 100 pounds. It is powered by four arms and two paddles.

Clarence Redburn is employed at a General Motors Company in Flint, Mich. Glasco is a carpenter and lives in Davison, Mich. They have lived on the river since the 20th of May.

"Have you ever read about the safaris in Africa, and wished you could take one," asked Redburn,"Well we did not have the money to do that so we are exploring the Mighty Mississippi."

Being from Michigan, the two men have never experienced such heat as is common this time of year in this part of the country. Air-conditioning is something that isn't really needed in their state, but they found it to be quite a comfort in Caruthersville.

When asked what they thought about Caruthersville, the two men said, "Caruthersville is a real friendly, clean town. It is much different than other towns that we have stopped at." They both agreed that Missouri people were very very friendly.

The two men took a day off Thursday to get off of the river. They slept on the concrete ramp at the end of Ward Avenue last Wednesday night and had to move their bedding early Thursday when some fishermen wanted to go out and check their lines. One of the men said that sleeping on the concrete ramp was quite comfortable.

On Thursday, the two men spent lot of time in Caruthersville. Generally, they just looked the city over resting in the middle of their long journey.

Not only has the sun and heat presented a problem to these men, but flies, mosquitoes, and other insects have given them a hard time. "I do not know what type of fly it is that you have here," said one, "but it makes sleeping on sand bars almost impossible." One of them also said that he was going to so some research on mosquitoes when he got home.

Getting to New Orleans doesn't look like it is going to be much of a problem for these two men, but going home will be something else. When asked how they were going to go back home, they said that they would just have to play it by ear, and figure that problem out when it comes along.

Redburn said that they actually passed a boy in a boat powered by a five horse motor last Wednesday. "Although we could not keep up that paddling pace too long," said Redburn," you should have seen the look on that fellow's face when we passed him rowing."

Several people have stopped in Caruthersville on their journies up and down the Mississippi. Most of the adventures ones are in their teens and twenties, but Redburn and Glasco are both in their early thirties.

These two men are eating rice, potatoes, and other cheap foods to stay alive, because they have little money. Their boat is crude and is not powered by any motor. They are not out to break any records, and they are probably getting more out of their journey than anyone who has ever taken the trip.

The tupaia or Oriental tree shrew represents the earliest type of primates in the animal world.

Ann Landers

Gentleness, Consideration Needed in Marital Sex Life

Dear Ann Landers: I wish to comment on the letter from "Starvation Diet" -- the man whose sex life was terrible. He blamed her and she blamed him.

For ten years my husband and I had the same problem. It was neither frigidity on my part nor clumsiness on his part. It was simply that this attitude toward sex was primitive and mechanical and I felt I was being used to satisfy his animal passions. It took two years of counseling to set us straight.

Sex is the highest form of communicating love between woman and man. It should be an act of giving, for both parties. A woman must feel that she is an object of love and not just a convenient escape valve for releasing sexual impulses.

I urge Mr. Starvation Diet to take some quiet walks and examine his deepest motives. I am willing to bet that if he changes his attitude and approaches his wife with unselfish love and takes the time to be gentle and considerate he will find himself graciously received -- not rejected. A good sexual relationship can make a marriage heaven. A poor one can make it hell. --- ONE WHO HAS KNOWN BOTH

Dear One: Amen.

Dear Ann Landers: I recently went to a doctor who ordered me to take some laboratory tests. I was told I'd be notified of the results. One week passed and I heard nothing so I called and asked about the tests. I was informed that they were "in the mail."

Five days elapsed and nothing arrived so I called again. I was told, "The post office must have lost them."

I am now mad at the doctor because I think he lied to me. I want to change doctors and I have asked for my medical records. I was told, "It is not ethical for a doctor to give a patient medical records."

I discussed this with a friend who is well-versed in medical ethics. He said, "The doctor is right."

Do you think it is fair that I should have to take all those lab tests over just because the doctor doesn't want to give me my medical records? And why is it unethical for a doctor to give them to me? Please explain. MAD AT CROAKERS

Dear Mad: It is indeed unethical for a doctor to give a patient his medical records. The reason is obvious. For example, if the physician should recommend the "surgical excision of multiple lipomata" it might frighten the patient to death. Another physician would know that this procedure is no big deal.

Your doctor should, however, furnish you with a report of your lab tests. You have a right to know how the tests turned out. If they were lost in the mail the doctor has an obligation to replace them.

Confidential to Below Zero Ray or Shine: Seven months is a long time to use a cold as an excuse for no good night kiss. I suggest you look for a young woman who is in better health.

When romantic glances turn to warm embraces is it love or chemistry? Send for the booklet "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference," by Ann Landers. Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35 cents in coin with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

"The Lord is my helper, I will not be afraid; what can man do to me?" (Hebrews 13:6, RSV)

PRAYER: God our Father, there is cruelty in our world today. Help us to be living witnesses of the living Lord. May we not only relieve suffering but also work as Christians to eliminate the causes of suffering. Grant that we may risk everything for Christ and His people. Amen.

If You Were the Judge

Husband Must Pay For His Wife's Teeth

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

As Mrs. Meek lost her teeth over the years, she also lost her desire to talk and spent more and more time fumbling over her knitting instead of her words. One day, she went to a dentist and obtained a set of false teeth and became extremely loquacious. Her husband appreciated this change in her character even less when he received the bill from the dentist.

"I won't pay it," Mr. Meek told the dentist. "I never gave you permission to make my wife a set of false teeth. It's bad enough I now have to listen to her constant chattering without having to pay for it."

Determined to collect the bill, the dentist took tne matter to court.

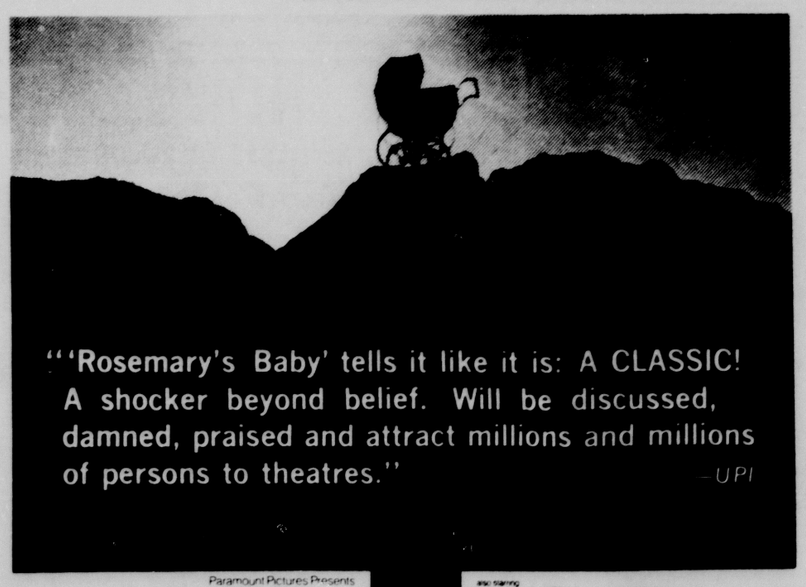

"Even if Mr. Meek didn't order the teeth," he told the judge, "he still has to pay for them. They were made for his wife. That makes him responsible for payment!"

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make Mr. Meek pay for the unordered false teeth?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that a husband is responsible for his wife's "necessaries" which includes a set of false teeth.

LOOKING NORTH on blacktop runway of the New Madrid county airport, one mile north of Marston and one-half mile east of Highway 61. Construction is expected to be completed in two weeks.

Airport Runways Surfaced

MARSTON - Blacktopping has been completed on the runway of the New Madrid county airport, reports W. S. McMullin, general contractor.

The runway is 3,200 feet long by 60 feet wide and runs in a northeast, southwest direction.

When completed, in about two weeks, the new facility will have a lighted runway with hard surfaced turn arounds and taxi ways.

This will complete the initial phase of construction at a cost of $200,000, financed by $89,000 federal aid, $25,000 state aid and $86,000 in county funds.

A second phase calls for the building of a hangar and office. No funds have been appropriated for the second phase.

The site consists of 87 acres, and since the acquisition of the Noranda facility, it is expected the runway will be lengthened to accommodate small jet aircraft.

Bill Brannock, Newspaperman, Dies at Cape

CAPE GIRARDEAU - Vane W. ("Bill") Brannock Jr., 45, a compositor for The Southeast Missourian and former editor and publisher of the Dexter Messenger, died unexpectedly of a heart attack at 10:55 p.m. Tuesday at a hospital.

Brannock became ill at his home and was admitted to the hopital at 10:25 p.m. He had no known previous heart condition and worked as usual Tuesday.

A member of a newspaper family, Brannock spent his years in civilian life in newspaper work.

He spent eight years in active duty with the navy.

Brannock was a member of St. Mary's Cathedral, where he served as an usher, and of the Knights of Columbus Council 1111. He was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3838 and for two years was the V.F.W. 15th District commander.

He was a past president of the Southeast Missouri Press Association as was his father, the late Vane W. Brannock of Dexter.

When initial steps were taken some 12 years ago to obtain a hospital at Dexter, Brannock served as the first president of the hospital planning baord. Just recently, the new Dexter Memorial Hospital was opened, culminating plans he helped to initiate.

The body is at the Walther's Funeral Home. Services are tentatively set for 9 Friday at St. Mary's Cathedral. Burial will be in the Dexter City Cemetery.

Brannock was born Jan. 26, 1923, in Bloomfield. He was educated in the Bloomfield and Dexter schools, graduating from Dexter High School.

At the age of 17, he joined the navy and served for eight years, some of which were spent in combat zones during World War II when he was assigned to the marine corps as navy medical corpsman. He held the rating of chief hospitalman in the naval reserve at the time of death.

Following his discharge from the Navy on June 3, 1948, Mr. Brannock returned to Dexter where he learned the newspaper business from his father who then owned and published the Dexter Messenger.

Within a few years, Brannock assumed editing and publishing of the paper when his father became editor of the Bloomfield Vindicator. He published the Dexter paper 10 years.

He then went to Coos Bay Oregon, where he worked in the news department of a daily newspaper. The World, for six months in 1959. He spent another six months in Las Vegas Nev., as a linotype operator or the Las Vegas Review, a daily newspaper.

In 1960, he moved to Cape Girardeau and for a year was employed by what is not The Missourian Litho and Printing Co. He then went to work in the composing room of the newspaper, fulfilling what Mrs. Brannock says was his "heart's desire." Even when he owned the Dexter paper, his ambition was to work on The Missourian, she said. He held his last position seven years.

Mrs. Brannock is the former Miss Betty Belle Pixley of Dexter. She and Mr. Brannock were married June 3, 1944.

Besides his wife and his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Brannock, Dexter, survivors are a son, Kevin, who will observe his 7th birthday Thursday; a daughter, Mrs. Wm. L. Killian, the former Miss Anne Brannock, and an infant grandson, John Patrick Killian, Bethesda, Md.

Other survivors are a brother, John F. Brannock, a printer on the Albuquerque Journal, a newspaper in Albuquerque, N. M.; a sister, Mrs. Sue Murphy, Columbia, Tenn., and his grandmother, Mrs. John Pearson, 135 South Spanish.

About Our Schools

By Lynn Twitty

Sikeston High School's juniors and seniors will not attend the opening day session of school August 28th and are asked not to report until the following day. The reason for this is that the administration and faculty at Senior High School will be busily involved in orienting some 690 freshmen and sophomores who will be attending classes on the Senior High School campus for the first time. It is felt that the school operation will proceed more smoothly if the faculty can devote all of their time on the newcomers. Next year it will not be necessary to hold juniors and seniors out on the opening day as then only incoming freshmen will be new to the school. We assume that juniors and seniors, thus getting another day of vacation, will not protest too much.

The curriculum at the Area Vocational School, operated by the Board of Education here, offers a wide variety of vocational education subjects. It is opened not only to students from this district, but to those students from our neighboring schools who desire to attend. In fact, the wide curriculum could not be offered without the cooperation of our neighboring schools and the enrollment from them has steadily increased since the Area School was opened.

No one of our schools in this area is large enough to maintain the broad vocational school program alone. It must be a cooperative arrangement and students from our school and our neighbors can thus acquire vocational skills in many different areas that would be impossible otherwise.

A school with perhaps 25-30 units of academic work, can immediately broaden its curriculum by adding to this the 70 units of vocational subjects which are offered in the Area School. We hope that boards of education and school administrations from the surrounding area will continue to give their students the advantage of this fine program which they can do at a very nominal tution cost. We appreciate the cooperation of neighboring schools who have helped us to make this program available. Superintendents or principals, who have not, heretofore, sent students, are encouraged to write or phone Jim Cornett, Director of the Area Vocational School, for detailed information as to the procedures for enrollment. Mr. Cornett will visit with any of those schools who express this interest.

The many changes in the Middle School schedule, in which we are attempting to provide more time for those subjects considered to require more time, will doubtless be confusing to some students for a few days when school opens, perhaps even to some faculty members. However, we believe these changes to be of sufficient importance, in improving the program, that any confusion resulting will be far overbalanced by a better program. A bit of patience, some understanding and willingness to cooperate will, we hope, soon get us adjusted to the changes.

The kindergarten enrollment has somewhat exceeded our original estimates and it may be necessary to establish a cutoff date for further enrollment if the total number of youngsters whose parents wish them to attend may seem to exceed our capacity. We hope this will not occur. However, we did repeatedly ask that all parents enroll prospective kindergarteners early in the summer. Some parents failed to do this, thus the possibility of more youngsters than our planned capacity will take care of.

We believe that kindergarten will strengthen our educational program to a very considerable extent. We urge those parents who may not have enrolled their children for kindergarten do so immediately, if they desire them to attend this year's session.

Czechs Protest Invasion

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovaks massed today on Vaclavske Namesti, Prague's main square, in a violent demonstration against the Soviet-led occupation and the arrest of their reform-minded Communist chief, Alexander Dubcek.

Ignoring requests by the clandestine Prague radio to maintain calm to avoid giving the foreign soldiers an excuse for further violence, a crowd of about 20,000 shook their fists at the Russians and shouted: "Russian murderers go home!"

They called for Dubcek's release.

Shots were heard from the square. It could not be determined immediately whether the soldiers were aiming at demonstrators or loosing warning shots into the air.

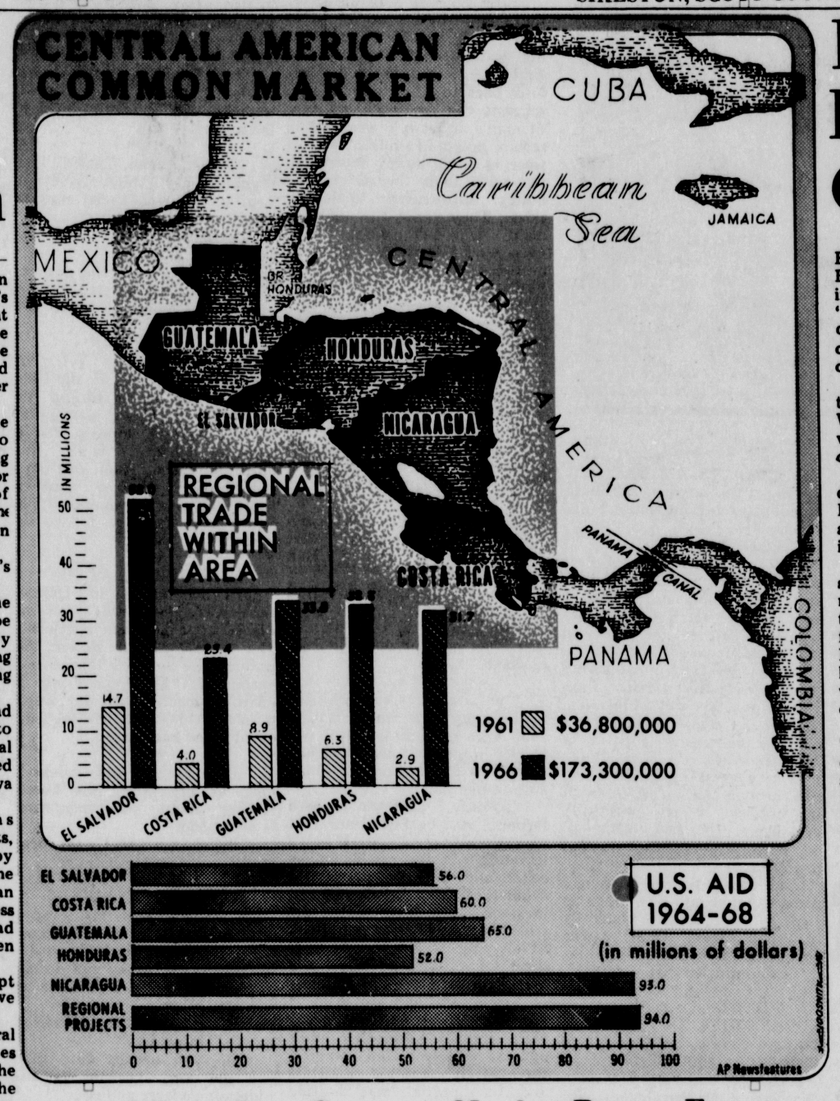

Soviet tank troops, who had been covering all approaches to the square since their arrival Wednesday, immediately closed all bridges across the Vltava River, which divides the city.

The move came as Czechoslovak Communists, reacting to the occupation by 200,000 Russian and Kremlin-line satellite troops, convened in an extraordinary party congress that its liberal leadership had originally scheduled to open Sept. 9.

This was a last-ditch attempt to force the troops to leave through political pressure.

The clandestine proliberal radio announced 927 delegates met at 11:20 a.m. Though the broadcast did not specify the site, the delegates had been urged to go to the liberal-controlled CKD factory on the outskirts of Prague.

Under arrangements that had been made by Dubcek, 1,500 members would have been on hand for the September meeting. In that session it had been expected he would oust conservative opponents from the ruling party Presidium and the Central Committee.

Central American Common Market Booms Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)--President Johnson considers the Central American Common Market a spectacular success in spurring economic and social development, on a regional basis.

He feels that implementation of such a plan might prove to be just what is needed to guide a trouble world to peace and progress.

Economists agree.

The Central American Common Market was organized in the early 1960s. Now about 95 per cent of the trade among the five nations is exempted from tariffs or customs duties as it moves from one country to the other in that area.

In addition, the plan has pointed the way to increased cooperation in regional planning for economic and social progress and spurred industrial, agricultural, educational, highway and general economic and social development in each of the nations.

For many years Latin American nations handled trade among themselves, each imposing tariffs on products of the other, and using customs duties to protect inefficient industries from competition.

Many still follow the same plan. The result has been higher costs to consumers for products sometimes of low quality, slow economic and social development, low living standards and economic and political rivalries leading to unhappy relations. Another product of the system has been a lack of adequate markets for agricultural and industrial items, even if efficiently produced. It also blocked out development of the regional power, transportation, communication, highway, industrial and agricultural facilities requiring a large market.

Central America thus has become the first area of Latin America to provide a breakthrough. Long regarded as nations with frequent revolutions and bitter quarrels among themselves, the five little nations -- Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica moved swiftly ahead on the common market plan while the more powerful nations of South America are still arguing about it.

The Central American nations have been able to increase regional trade up to 700 per cent in seven years, with national production growing at 6 per cent a year, and investments in development up 65 per cent.

But everything is not rosy. The little republics have had their problems, their jealousies and their national pride and business competition to deal with and they have not always succeeded.

The experts say this is normal in the complexities of getting any region where nations formerly competed with each other to work together, sometimes making sacrifices for the regional good.

Problems such as this have arisen:

1. Central American nations have poor communication facilities among themselves. A telecommunications survey produced a plan experts considered perfectly plausible. The World Bank was ready to finance it. The quarrel was not with the idea, but where its headquarters would be located. That hasn't been settled yet nor has a central authority been established to manage the enterprise as an autonomous entity, but now plans have been worked out to get the project started, leaving such decisions for later.

2. Because rapid economic and social development requires increased imports of supplies and materials, the little nations began to have balance of payments problems. To check luxury imports and those of competing products from non-regional nations, the Central Americans decided to impose a 30 per cent surtax on such imports. Nicaragua did so promptly, the others delyaed. Then Nicaragua charged other countries of the region were importing shirts from Hong Kong carrying labels of he importing countries and selling them in Nicaragua, to the dismay of its own shirt manufacturers. It said the same thing happened on textile goods, rice, soap and other products.

The highly-praised Common Market plan was ready to blow up.

This may have been a major motive for President Johnson's trip to the area early in July, to meet with the presidents of the five nations, Latin Americans credit him, and the general spirit of cooperation sparked by the common market plan, with getting things back on the track again. All agreed to impose and enforce the surtax plan. So congenial was the spirit that two countries, Honduras and Salvador, agreed on an exchange of prisoners captured in a border area disputed by both countries.

Everybody concedes much remains to be done in every area of social and economic development. But as President Johnson told the five presidents "you are making great progress."

Insect Pests Described for Lions Club

James Maddox, plant pest control inspector for U.S. department of agriculture, explained insect control to members of the Lions club, Wednesday at the Country Club. Henry Bussey, president, was in charge.

Maddox told of the control over the cyst nematode in soybeans, that until the past two years, destroyed thousands of acres of beans. The insect is so small that several hundred can be on a single plant root. They can be seen only through a microscope.

They are spread from farm implements carrying soil on wheels or by hunters tracking over the ground. A resistant seed variety is now in plentiful supply.

Maddox also told of control of Japanese beetle, first found in this area near East St. Louis, Ill., in 1940, causing an estimated crop and flower damage of $10 million annually. The beetles have been brought under control through insecticides.

The third insect described was the white fringe beetle, brought to this country from Argentina in 1928 near the Mobile, Ala. seaports. It is similar to the Japanese beetle and about one-third the size of a June bug.

An area of six blocks at Cardwell near the railroad yards is now being treated with chlorodane and this fall the soil will be treated to control the larvai stage.

Maddox came to Sikeston last November from Dyersburg, Tenn. He replaced Herbert Morgan, who went to Urbana, Ill.

Cape Girardeau Man Hurt, $700 Tire Theft

Frank Graham, 67, Cape Girardeau, was injured seriously in a farm tractor and tractor-trailer collision Wednesday at 2 p.m. on Interstate I-55, six-tenths of a mile south of Scott City.

He was driving a Massey-Ferguson tractor, when a 1967 GMC tractor-trailer, driven by Carl LaCroix, 45, Advance, attempted to speed past his tractor and struck the rear of the farm vehicle, throwing Graham off, the state patrol said.

Graham received back injuries, which the patrol said paralyzed him.

In addition he received a broken right leg, scratches and bruises. He was taken to St. Francis hospital in Cape Girardeau.

LaCroix was given a summons for careless and imprudent driving.

The state patrol received a call at 3:30 a.m. today from Dan Puibk, Monett, reporting that 28 Mohawk tires, valued at $700 were taken from his truck, while parked at the Corral motel near Advance.

He checked into the motel last night. His trucks carried a load of tires for the Friendly Tire Company, Monett.

He was awakened early today by a noise outside the motel and discovered the loss.

Ike Remains Critical

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower continued to show increased evidences of heart "irritability" today but Army doctors said his over-all condition is unchanged and still critical.

The irritability mentioned in the latest bulletin first appeared Wednesday night and refers to a weakening in the nerves that operate the heart muscles.

This morning's report by the doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital added that the term also means extra beats or irregularity in the heart rhythm.

"In spite of his long illness," said the medical report, "he has remained cheerful and continues to see members of his immediate family for brief periods daily. His vital signs remain stable and his over-all condition must be viewed as unchanged but still critical."

The report said that the 77-year-old Eisenhower continues to rest comfortably and has been in no pain.

Spain Says He Will Vote for McCarthy

BLOOMFIELD -- State Rep. James E. Spain, D-151 district, and delegate to the National Democratic presidential convention, said today he had made up his mind to vote for Eugene McCarthy for President on the first ballot, if the state does not invoke the unit rule.

Spain said it was surprisingly hard to decide who he would vote for this year, but he is convinced McCarthy would run better against Richard Nixon, nationally the Republican Nominee nationally than Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

A Gallup poll released yesterday - convinced him McCarthy would be the better candidate, he said.

The Gallup poll showed that Nixon would beat Humphrey by 16 percentage points, while it gave Nixon an edge of five percentage points over McCarthy.

Spain said he always has been a Democrat and would support Humphrey if he is nominated. There is a lot of good things to be said for Humphrey, he said, but his close identification with the present administration hurts his chances of being elected this year.

Spain said he had met McCarthy in St. Louis and was favorably impressed.

"It's refreshing to meet a politician who will come right out and tell you in a few words exactly what he thinks," Spain said.

Spain said he has received about 500 letters since he became a delegate this year. The mail is overwhelmingly in favor of McCarthy's nomination, which reflects at least the energy of the McCarthy supporters, he added.

Spain said he believes only about three other Missouri delegates are going to the convention committed to McCarthy, but several are going uncommitted.

Three Worthless Checks Passed by Driver, 40

A white man, about 40, driving a 1961 beige Oldsmobile or Buick, has passed three worthless checks in three weeks, two for $15, and a third for $10.

Each check bore the name of James Boss in the signature position. One was drawn on the First National Bank, and a second on the Security National Bank, both of Sikeston.

A third check for $10 bearing the same name signed was cashed at A and P store in Cape Girardeau.

Melvin Tidwell, manager of Gulf station on North Main, said that a check there was cashed Aug. 4. Ed Baker, manager of a Scott City Gulf station, said a check there was cashed by an attendant, Bill Erast, Saturday.

The Scott City station manager described one man as about 40, five feet, 11 inches tall, weighing 190-200 pounds, brown hair and flat face; a second in the car was about 18-20, six feet, 165-170 pounds and light brown hair or blond hair.

After cashing the check at Scott City, an attendant attempted to write the license number but there was none.

Viet Reds Renew Rocket Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy rockets smashed into the center of Saigon for the first time in two months today and mortars hit more than a dozen other cities and allied installations in a fifth straight day of widespread enemy attacks.

Heavy ground fighting also was reported at half a dozen points.

Military communiques reported 45 Vietnamese civilians were killed and 117 wounded in the rain of more than 500 rockets and mortars that hit Saigon and cities to the northwest and south. A Japanese news correspondent, Tatsuo Sakai, 33, also was killed in the Saigon attack, becoming the 19th correspondent to die in the war. Only five Americans were reported wounded in the widespread shellings.

An American soldier was fatally shot in the back while cycling in downtown Saigon. The shooting touched off a running motorcycle gun battle that left a South Vietnamese soldier and one of the three Vietnamese assailants wounded. The wounded assailant was later captured. The two other men escaped.

The intensified pace of the war included shellings and ground attacks against at least six allied bases blocking invasion routes into Saigon and a fifth straight day of heavy fighting for control of a road 40 miles northwest of Saigon. The road is a vital supply route for American forces astride a key Viet Cong infiltration corridor leading from Cambodia.

A senior U.S. officer said the stepped up fighting across the country—with more than 1,400 enemy troops reported killed since last Sunday—could be the start of the long-awaited third Viet Cong offensive. But he qualified this by adding that "It's too early to make an assessment."

The officer conceded that it is "always possible" the latest attacks, mainly those on allied bases, may have been a diversionary move to distract allied forces while enemy troops maneuvered into position for a subsequent ground attack on Saigon.

"They've done this in the past," he noted.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams' headquarters termed the renewed shelling of Saigon "indiscriminate harassing rocket attacks."

"No military installations were hit," a communique from Abrams' headquarters said.

Abrams, riding in a military jeep, toured some of the areas in Saigon that were hit by the 20-round barrage of 100-pound Russian-made rockets.

Viet Cong gunners also fired rockets on a U.S. Navy ammunition ship and three merchant ships, including the British tanker Calter Newcastle, in the Long Tau channel to Saigon. Headquarters said two of the ships received minor damage.

U.S. headquarters said the rockets that hit Saigon were fired from positions southeast of the capital.

"Counter-artillery was fired within three minutes on suspected enemy positions with unknown results," headquarters said.

Allied forces repulsed all of the ground attacks, headquarters said, with the help of divebombers, artillery and helicopter gunships.

During attacks on two American fire bases around Tay Ninh City, 45 miles northwest of Saigon, American artillerymen turned their big howitzers point-blank at charging North Vietnamese.

Military spokesmen said that 82 enemy were killed 27nbthe ground assaults on the two bases of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division. American casualties were six killed and 30 wounded.

Headquarters said that 24(enemy troops had been killed in fighting Wednesday and Thursday in Tay Ninh Province near Cambodian border base camps of the enemy. It was in Tay Ninh Province last Sunday that the Viet Cong touched off their latest round of attacks, shattering a two-month lull in the war. Key enemy infiltration routes lead from Cambodia into Tay Ninh eastward toward Saigon.

The new figures brought the war's U.S. death toll to 26,793 as opposed to 379,564 for the enemy.

Czechs Protest Invasion

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovaks massed today on Vaclavske Namesti, Prague's main square, in a violent demonstration against the Soviet-led occupation and the arrest of their reform-minded Communist chief, Alexander Dubcek.

Ignoring requests by the clandestine Prague radio to maintain calm to avoid giving the foreign soldiers an excuse for further violence, a crowd of about 20,000 shook their fists at the Russians and shouted: "Russian murderers go home!"

They called for Dubcek's release.

Shots were heard from the square. It could not be determined immediately whether the soldiers were aiming at demonstrators or loosing warning shots into the air.

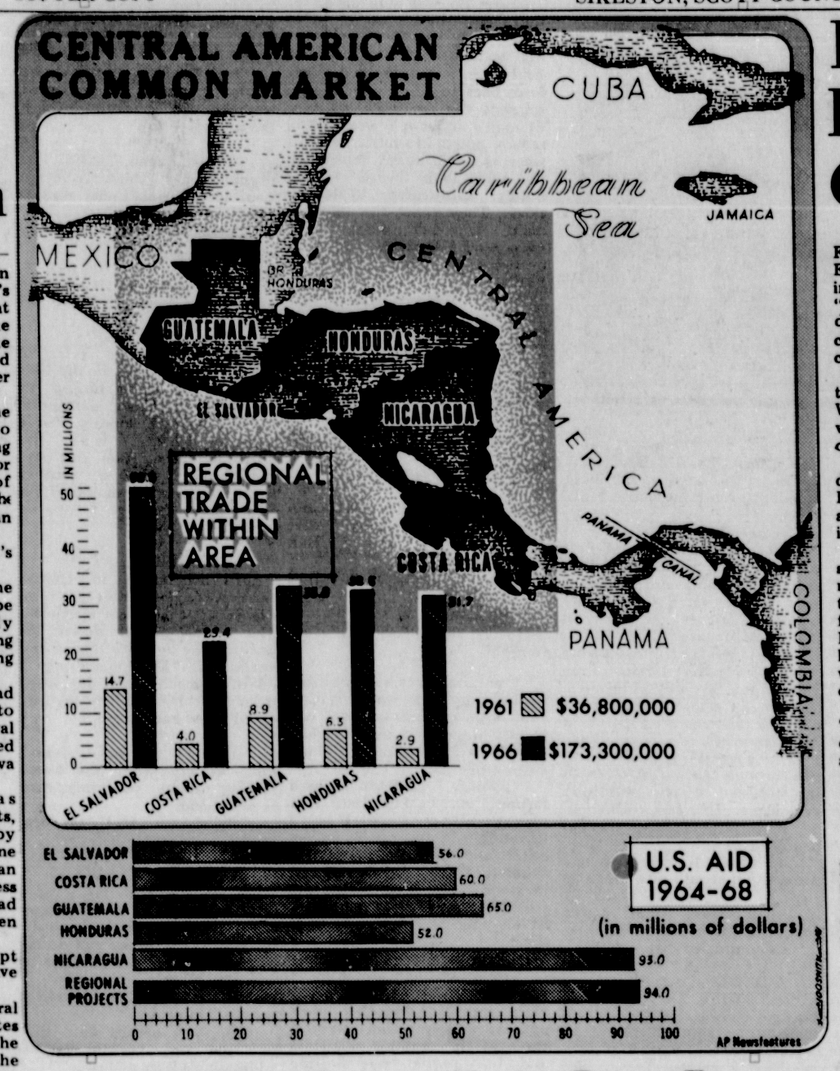

Soviet tank troops, who had been covering all approaches to the square since their arrival Wednesday, immediately closed all bridges across the Vltava River, which divides the city.

The move came as Czechoslovak Communists, reacting to the occupation by 200,000 Russian and Kremlin-line satellite troops, convened in an extraordinary party congress that its liberal leadership had originally scheduled to open Sept. 9.

This was a last-ditch attempt to force the troops to leave through political pressure.

The clandestine proliberal radio announced 927 delegates met at 11:20 a.m. Though the broadcast did not specify the site, the delegates had been urged to go to the liberal-controlled CKD factory on the outskirts of Prague.

Under arrangements that had been made by Dubcek, 1,500 members would have been on hand for the September meeting. In that session it had been expected he would oust conservative opponents from the ruling party Presidium and the Central Committee.

Central American Common Market Booms Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)--President Johnson considers the Central American Common Market a spectacular success in spurring economic and social development, on a regional basis.

He feels that implementation of such a plan might prove to be just what is needed to guide a trouble world to peace and progress.

Economists agree.

The Central American Common Market was organized in the early 1960s. Now about 95 per cent of the trade among the five nations is exempted from tariffs or customs duties as it moves from one country to the other in that area.

In addition, the plan has pointed the way to increased cooperation in regional planning for economic and social progress and spurred industrial, agricultural, educational, highway and general economic and social development in each of the nations.

Three Worthless Checks Passed by Driver, 40

A white man, about 40, driving a 1961 beige Oldsmobile or Buick, has passed three worthless checks in three weeks, two for $15, and a third for $10.

Each check bore the name of James Boss in the signature position. One was drawn on the First National Bank, and a second on the Security National Bank, both of Sikeston.

A third check for $10 bearing the same name signed was cashed at A and P store in Cape Girardeau.

Melvin Tidwell, manager of Gulf station on North Main, said that a check there was cashed Aug. 4. Ed Baker, manager of a Scott City Gulf station, said a check there was cashed by an attendant, Bill Erast, Saturday.

The Scott City station manager described one man as about 40, five feet, 11 inches tall, weighing 190-200 pounds, brown hair and flat face; a second in the car was about 18-20, six feet, 165-170 pounds and light brown hair or blond hair.

After cashing the check at Scott City, an attendant attempted to write the license number but there was none.

Viet Reds Renew Rocket Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy rockets smashed into the center of Saigon for the first time in two months today and mortars hit more than a dozen other cities and allied installations in a fifth straight day of widespread enemy attacks.

Heavy ground fighting also was reported at half a dozen points.

Military communiques reported 45 Vietnamese civilians were killed and 117 wounded in the rain of more than 500 rockets and mortars that hit Saigon and cities to the northwest and south. A Japanese news correspondent, Tatsuo Sakai, 33, also was killed in the Saigon attack, becoming the 19th correspondent to die in the war. Only five Americans were reported wounded in the widespread shellings.

An American soldier was fatally shot in the back while cycling in downtown Saigon. The shooting touched off a running motorcycle gun battle that left a South Vietnamese soldier and one of the three Vietnamese assailants wounded. The wounded assailant was later captured. The two other men escaped.

The intensified pace of the war included shellings and ground attacks against at least six allied bases blocking invasion routes into Saigon and a fifth straight day of heavy fighting for control of a road 40 miles northwest of Saigon. The road is a vital supply route for American forces astride a key Viet Cong infiltration corridor leading from Cambodia.

A senior U.S. officer said the stepped up fighting across the country—with more than 1,400 enemy troops reported killed since last Sunday—could be the start of the long-awaited third Viet Cong offensive. But he qualified this by adding that "It's too early to make an assessment."

The officer conceded that it is "always possible" the latest attacks, mainly those on allied bases, may have been a diversionary move to distract allied forces while enemy troops maneuvered into position for a subsequent ground attack on Saigon.

"They've done this in the past," he noted.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams' headquarters termed the renewed shelling of Saigon "indiscriminate harassing rocket attacks."

"No military installations were hit," a communique from Abrams' headquarters said.

Abrams, riding in a military jeep, toured some of the areas in Saigon that were hit by the 20-round barrage of 100-pound Russian-made rockets.

Viet Cong gunners also fired rockets on a U.S. Navy ammunition ship and three merchant ships, including the British tanker Calter Newcastle, in the Long Tau channel to Saigon. Headquarters said two of the ships received minor damage.

U.S. headquarters said the rockets that hit Saigon were fired from positions southeast of the capital.

"Counter-artillery was fired within three minutes on suspected enemy positions with unknown results," headquarters said.

Allied forces repulsed all of the ground attacks, headquarters said, with the help of divebombers, artillery and helicopter gunships.

During attacks on two American fire bases around Tay Ninh City, 45 miles northwest of Saigon, American artillerymen turned their big howitzers point-blank at charging North Vietnamese.

Military spokesmen said that 82 enemy were killed 27nbthe ground assaults on the two bases of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division. American casualties were six killed and 30 wounded.

Headquarters said that 24(enemy troops had been killed in fighting Wednesday and Thursday in Tay Ninh Province near Cambodian border base camps of the enemy. It was ir Tay Ninh Province last Sunday that the Viet Cong touched of their latest round of attacks, shattering a two-month lull in the war. Key enemy infiltration routes lead from Cambodia into Tay Ninh eastward toward Saigon.

The new figures brought the war's U.S. death toll to 26,783 as opposed to 379,564 for the enemy.

By WARREN SOKOLIS

NEW MADRID - Newly elected members of the board of the New Madrid County R-I enlarged school district met in their first regular meeting Tuesday night.

Present were Arvil Adams, Portageville, president; Tom Maschmeyer, Lilbourn, vice president; James R. Blades, Parma, treasurer; Markus Koch, Matthews, secretary; A. C. Riley, New Madrid, and Paul E. Mahar, Marston.

Meeting with the board at its first session were Arthur Summers, Director of school district reorganization, Randall Tedlock, Director of finance, and Huey D. Cook, district supervisor, all from the Missouri State department of education at Jefferson City.

It was pointed out by Summers that the new district is now the largest in the state in area and would serve as a pattern of reorganization. It has, he said unlimited educational potential with both the financial and human resources to set the educational pace for rural Missouri.

Tedlock commented on the need for the efficient and orderly transition of the business affairs of the new district and suggested how this could be accomplished.

Cook suggested curricular priorities to assure children a quality education.

In executive session, the board selected Max Timmons, superintendent of schools, Lilbourn, to serve as temporary administrative officer. He will set up a staff and merge the administrative and business affairs of the district.

The board voted to employ Hearnes, Albers and Stewart, certified public accountants, to set up a data processing accounting system.

Adams suggested that the board rotate the place of the monthly meetings until each school had been visited and its facilities and operation inspected.

The next regular meeting will be in Portageville, Sept. 17.

The district was formed lsst month when voters approved the consolidation of the Portageville R-I, Parma R-3, Lilbourn R-4, Matthews R-5, New Madrid R-6 and Higgerson districts.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

The thunder that George Wallace is making across the land has begun to attract a listening audience of Democrats as well as Republicans.

Wallace has shown surprising strength in the polls. He continues to gain. When he speaks he makes sense to a lot of people.

Millions of Americans are discontented in this presidential election year. Nobody knows just where they will take their discontent on election day but a new face, a new approach, even a new political party has more than usual appeal.

Some of the same elements that make Wallace attractive are at work for Sen. Eugene McCarthy, Minnesota Democrat.

There are many Americans, who would like to elect a president who acted in the behalf of all the people instead of George Meany, the National Association of Manufacturers, the United States Chamber of Commerce, the National Rifle Association, the postal clerks, the trucking lobby or other pressure group.

The reason that maybe a new man might not know any better at first than do what he thought was best for the country and not on the basis of what was acceptable to some lobbying or special interest group or their leaders.

Who knows. George or Gene might be just such a guy!

The assumption had been until recently that Wallace would clobber the Republicans in the South and benefit the Democratic candidate.

Vice President Humbert Humphrey can no longer rely on this.

Labor chieftains have discovered that many of their rank and file like Wallace and they may not be able to deliver the votes for Humphrey.

This is indeed disquieting for a man who has played footsie with the labor union chiefs throughout his political career.

The Republicans haven't been asleep to the challenge. Even though their grip on the South always has been unreliable, Richard Nixon, the Republican nominee, lost no time in trying to woo the south.

This was a major reason for choosing Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland as his vice presidential running mate.

This may force Humphrey to choose a running mate in the South more acceptable to the region than he is.

This is a presidential year when no aspirant to the nation's highest office can be written off immediately as inconsequential.

Every man's a king in 1968.

SCHOOL BELLS AGAIN

With the coming of August, the hottest days of summer are upon the land. With this climax of the seasons will come the month of September -- the time for millions of young people to return once again to tens of thousands of schoolrooms across the land.

In today's world, the sum total of man's knowledge is exploding upward at an accelerating pace. It takes many more years of schooling to become well trained in any field and further to become a well educated human being with the estiblished, permanent desire and ability to continue the learning process throughout life.

The cost of education today is a major tax burden. With this in mind, many of the "older generation" sometimes voice the doubt that "all this schooling is really worth it." They wonder what kind of crop of young people we are raising. Protesters, sit-inners, rioters and school dropouts get a deal of publicity, but they are a tiny proportion of our school population and would probably be in trouble wherever they were and whether they had any education or not.

The real promise of the future lies in the vast majority of hardworking young people who look forward to school days opening again this fall -- not only for the social companionship, excitement and fun of activities, but also, because they feel the stimulation of learning about their heritage and opportunities and exploring the vast fields of knowledge now being unfolded to man's mind. As the school bells ring again, we all should wish them well.

A new physical therapy department is just one element of the expanding role of usefulness of the Missouri Delta Community hospital to Southeast Missouri.

This department will promote healing, restore people to normal pursuits more rapidly and permit them to lead normal or nearly normal lives.

It has a powerful impact on the lives of people in the Bootheel.

But it also will exert an econimic influence that is not minor.

The hospital's usefulness increased, more patients will be attracted, more families visit Sikeston and more dollars flow into the community.

This does more than make doctors prosperous because these people buy food, gasoline and shop for other items.

It will save money, too, in many instances for those needing physical therapy because they can live at home and receive treatment.

It won't be necessary to make long, expensive trips for treatment. Costs can be held down in other important respects.

As the hospital grows so to some extent does the community grow into a better place in which to live and work.

The campaign to raise funds for the new hospital addition never did hit its mark.

Anyone who wishes can write a check made payable to the fund and mail it directly to the hospital.

It still is a good investment and no one knows who may be benefitted next.

CHIPS ARE DOWN

While some of us are old enough to recall the melodramas which featured "dirty work at the crossroads" and other cliff-hanging scenes, we were disturbed to read about the campaign to wipe out the House Committee on UnAmerican Activities.

The article pointed out the newest tactic of the liberal establishment to eliminate the power of this committee "has now been introduced in Congress as H. R. 148."

This provides that the name of the committee shall be changed to the Committee on Internal Security. Changing the name is a neat trick which means that new members can be appointed and that 30 years of seniority attained by members of the present committee would be wiped out.

Moreover, the bill represents a threat to the stability of the legislative process. The Dallas Morning News points out these two reasons why this is so:

If a liberal caucus can kill this committee, which it doesn't like, it can kill any committee which it doesn't like.

HCUA has become the public's last resort as a source of investigation and prosecution of subversive activities when the administration refuses to act through the Department of Justice in these matters.

If this bill should pass, the riots and violence hurled at the committee by left-wing groups bent on destroying the American system of politics will have been rewarded.

This is what happens when legislators take the easy way out.

We don't believe the American people will stand for such behind-the-scenes manipulation on such an important committee that seeks to defend our American heritage.

TRENDS: An important new shade in knitted sport shirts and sweaters is "cognac," a deep but vibrant reddish-brown (or brownish-red, if you prefer).. formal turtlenecks have brought about a trend that seems of importance - the introduction of the deep tones in formal shirts. Colors like french blue, melon, grey, raspberry and lime are all being well-received. Many come with a matching butterfly bowtie - or one in a lighter shade of the same color... AIR TRAVEL HEADACHES

In the airline business, apparently, nothing exceeds like success.

Expecting a passenger volume of 230 million people a year by 1975, airline executives, airport managers and architects are already getting headaches trying to figure out how to handle all of them.

Just getting 500-some passengers on and off one of the new jumbo jets will be problem enough, let alone arranging for all their baggage to turn up in different cities.

One suggestion that is being run through the fan jet to see if it smokes is to "preload" passengers. This has nothing to do with liquor, although that might help.

The idea is to have passenger pallets that would move into an airplane with passengers already in their seats, thus saving enplaning and deplaning time.

It's coming to that.

How do you stay ahead of the flock? In his attire, as in other things, today's man does not want to be a conformist. And there's the problem. Just look back to a few months ago, suggests the American institute of men's and boy's wear, when several non-conformists, tired of wearing dress shirts and black ties with their formal clothes, boldly substituted turtleneck shirts. They swept the country, and all at once the non-conformists became conformists again! That's a hazard accompanying the so-called "Peacock Revolution." The fashion - conscious want to look different, and they end up looking alike. Now the big push is on the Nehru jackets, and they too are selling on a big way. But the pattern is forseeable. H.L. Hunt Says

SOVIET SUBMARINE ACTIVITY

Admiral Rickover recently testified that the Defense Department has ordered a halt to the building of new Polaris, type submarines. This decision is expecially unwise in view of the increased activity by Soviet submarines.

United States intelligence authorities have reported that the Soviets are now operating a constant submarine patrol off both coasts of the U. S. and in the Gulf of Mexico. Most of these submarines are nuclear powered and use a newly built naval base in Cuba.

These vessels chart U.S. coasts and keep a close watch on the arrivals and departures of Polaris submarines. They have also been known to carry espionage agents from Cuba to the United States.

The Soviets have approximately ninety-five missile-carrying submarines in their fleet of 500. The other vessels are often used to follow Polaris submarines on their patrols, thus providing Moscow with important intelligence date.

This activity by Soviet submarines shows that the Kremlin is increasingly aware of the importance of these vessels in a defense system. Our Defense Department, on the other hand, seems to be forgetting their importance.

General Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, recently said: 'There is no question but that the Soviets... have improved their military capabilities vis-a-vis the United States over the past several years." General Wheeler went on to say that the United States has all of the resources necessary to remedy the situation and to restore our military superiority.

One of the first areas in which steps should be taken is in production and deployment of more nuclear-powered Polaris submarines. HLH

Of fat and fate: If you have to diet, you're a born loser

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Guess what three-letter word is causing the most trouble in our fair land?

Hah, I thought you'd say sex. Well, you're wrong, friend.

Sex is for the birds and the bees. Fat is for people.

A government report the other day made the complacent claim that very few Americans suffer from dire hunger. Pure gobbledygook. What about the 30-to40 million blubber-laden U.S. citizens who are dieting?

That's about a fifth of the nation. They feel constantly on the verge of starving. Doesn't their hunger count? It is very real to them.

Personally, I've been on a diet for 48 days and managed to shrink from a wholesome 220 pounds down to 196. My final goal is 180, and it looks farther away than Valhalla or ShangriLa.

The only word for the ordeal is agony. I'd probably have expired weeks ago except for the dog biscuits I was able to sneak and gnaw down when my wife wasn't looking. It has gotten so bad that when I go into the kitchen at the dog's mealtime, he puts his paw on his plate to protect his dinner.

I went on the diet after my doctor examined me and said, "well, you're in shipshape condition."

'Thank you, doc."

"But the ship you're shaped like is a battleship," he said. "Take it off, take it off, take it off."

Easier said than done.

America is the only country in the world where it is easier to lose your mind than it is to lose weight. It is the only country where middle age automatically seems to turn a man from a girl watcher into a weight watcher.

Everything conspires against the person on a diet. He may have lived like a hermit before, but as soon as he goes on a diet he is inundated with invitations to cocktail parties, ba barbecues, picnics and gc dinners with nine courses.

All at once very one h knew wants to take him to or buy him five drinks. H accepts, then sticks to his regimen of sauerkraut and club soda water, he assumes the role of the skeleton at the feast. If he ducks the invitations, he is dubbed an ungracious heel.

If he talks about his dieting victories to his friends, they decide he has turned into a braggart and dull bore. If he keeps his trap shut about his diet—and it is, of course, the overwhelming thing on his mind—they decide he's turned into a secretive and sullen boor.

It might be thought that dieters at least could find solace and comfort in conversing with each other about their problems. If the other guy has lost 15 ounces more than you have, y don't want to listen to him. you've lost 11 ounches more t he has, he doesn't want to list n to you.

In any case, each of you is sure the other is lying.

Worst of all are the hallucinations. Everything reminds you of a forbidden food. If looking at pretty girls is one of your innocent pleasures in life, it is rather unnerving when you see one to have her, right before your startled eyes, suddenly turn into a chicken dumpling, a mound of mashed potatoes, or a threedecker club sandwich.

Is it all really worth the reward? The reward comes after you finally win the battle against fat, accept the doctor's congratulations, and meet an old pal on the trip home.

"Man, have you been sick?" he asks. "You look like a shadow of your old self. Take a tip from me and put on some weight."

It would be nice to punch him in the nose—if you didn't feel so feeble.

That's the biggest blow to a dieting fatty—even if he loses he rarely wins.

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: Lobbyists had field day during closing rush of congress; truckers' contributions of $75,000 greased way for trucking bills; publicity stopped one truck bill.

WASHINGTON -- Lobbyists always have a field day during the closing, hectic days of congress. They know that when congressmen are in a rush to adjourn, they have a better chance of sneaking special - privilege bills past an unsuspecting public.

Seldom have the lobbyists been so blatant and successful as during the last weeks of July as congress was about to recess. Fortunately, however, congress adjourned for the conventions, thereby giving a breathing space for the public and the President to catch up. That's why LBJ has been giving serious consideration to a veto for the highway bill.

Three significant bills were the objective of the truckers' lobby, with assists from the American roadbuilders association, the tire, oil, gas, and concrete lobby.

Lobbying push No. 1 was to limit farm co-op trucks from carrying commercial products on their round trips after delivering farm products to market. This bill was rushed through the house of representatives after 7 out of 9 members on the house subcommittee received campaign contributions from the American trucking association, including Sam Friedel, D-Md., $2,000; John Dingell, D-Mich., $1,500; Samuel Devine, R-Ohio, $1,000; Albert Watson, R-S.C. $1,500; Brock Adams, D-Wash., $1,000; Daniel Ronan, D-Ill., $500; and Glenn Cunningham, R-NEB., $500.

SENATE CONTRIBUTIONS

All are members of the subcommittee of the House Interstate Commerce Committee which considered the trucking bill against farm co-ops. The bill was opposed by the defense department, the budget bureau, the agriculture department and the department of transportation.

Nevertheless, it was passed after only one day of committee hearings, brought to the house floor before the hearings were printed and passed under a suspension of the rules which permitted no amendments. It also slipped through the senate in record form, where liberal campaign contributions were given to Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., $2,000, and Sen. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., $2,375.

Finally it slipped through the White House and was signed into law by the President.

Lobbying push No. 2 was staged by the truckers to double the size of triple-trailer trucks on the federal thruways, which Fred Schwengel, R-Iowa, warned would legalize small "freight trains" and Richard McLaughlin, Massachusetts registrar or motor vehicles, said would make it impossible for motorists to pass safely without at least half a mile of clear-sight distance.

The bill would permit trailer trucks' weight to increase from 73,280 pounds to about 138,000 pounds; would permit almost unlimited length, increase width from 8 to 8½ feet.

Nick Kotz of the Des Moines Register and William Steif of the Scripps-Howard Newspapers deserve credit for revealing the original truckers' lobby contributions to key congressmen. Their revelations were not quick enough to head off the farm co-op bill, but did sidetrack the truck trailer increase bill.

It passed the senate with almost no objection at all, perhaps because the truckers' contributions had been discreetly placed in the campaign kitties of key senators. But disclosure that a total of around $75,000 had been contributed for the truckers' lobby has made some congressmen run for cover, and the second trucking bill has been stopped.

Lobbying push No. 3 secured passage of the federal highway bill which has some important new features such as relocation help for people displaced by thruways and provision for fringe parking on the edge of big cities. But it also undercuts the beautification program, weakens the limitation on billboards, fails to protect parks and historic sites, etc., and forces some local communities to build thruways and bridges they do not want.

Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco battled against the highway lobby to prevent it from building a freeway through the Crystal Springs area, 23,000 acres of parkland near San Francisco.

Mayor Alioto was vigorous in lecturing the highway lobbyists:

"You have overreached yourselves. You are worse than the Southern Pacific in its heyday when Hiram Johnson broke it up. When you get a complex of truckers, tire companies, concrete companies, oil and gas companies, you have one of the most powerful lobbies in the United States. And what the public doesn't realize is that the taxpayers are putting up 90 per cent of the money for thruways which the lobby wants to run through some of the most beautiful parkland in the nation.

"I have never seen such an arrogant array of power," said the Mayor of San Francisco. "You fellows should reread history. You have overstepped yourselves."

Though the highway lobby did not succeed in forcing a mandatory route through the crystal springs park, it did succeed in inserting into the bill a requirement that the District of Columbia build a thruway which the courts have ruled against - at least until public hearings are held -- plus construction of the three sisters bridge across the Potomac which D. C. officials do not want.

These are some of the reasons President Johnson has been concerned over the highway bill.

Note: When this column revealed on July 15 that John Kluczynski, Chicago Democrat and chairman of the subcommittee on highways, had bowed to the lobbies on certain provisions of the highway bill, the congressman issued a categoric denial. He said: "I don't associate with lobbyists and I don't accept contributions from them and I didn't yield anything to the lobbyists on the bill." It was later revealed that Kluczynski accepted $3,000 in campaign contributions from the American Truckers Association.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

The thunder that George Wallace is making across the land has begun to attract a listening audience of Democrats as well as Republicans.

Wallace has shown surprising strength in the polls. He continues to gain. When he speaks he makes sense to a lot of people.

Millions of Americans are discontented in this presidential election year. Nobody knows just where they will take their discontent on election day but a new face, a new approach, even a new political party has more than usual appeal.

Some of the same elements that make Wallace attractive are at work for Sen. Eugene McCarthy, Minnesota Democrat.

There are many Americans, who would like to elect a president who acted in the behalf of all the people instead of George Meany, the National Association of Manufacturers, the United States Chamber of Commerce, the National Rifle Association, the postal clerks, the trucking lobby or other pressure group.

The reason that maybe a new man might not know any better at first than do what he thought was best for the country and not on the basis of what was acceptable to some lobbying or special interest group or their leaders.

Who knows. George or Gene might be just such a guy!

The assumption had been until recently that Wallace would clobber the Republicans in the South and benefit the Democratic candidate.

Vice President Humbert Humphrey can no longer rely on this.

Labor chieftains have discovered that many of their rank and file like Wallace and they may not be able to deliver the votes for Humphrey.

This is indeed disquieting for a man who has played footsie with the labor union chiefs throughout his political career.

The Republicans haven't been asleep to the challenge. Even though their grip on the South always has been unreliable, Richard Nixon, the Republican nominee, lost no time in trying to woo the south.

This was a major reason for choosing Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland as his vice presidential running mate.

This may force Humphrey to choose a running mate in the South more acceptable to the region than he is.

This is a presidential year when no aspirant to the nation's highest office can be written off immediately as inconsequential.

Every man's a king in 1968.

SCHOOL BELLS AGAIN

With the coming of August, the hottest days of summer are upon the land. With this climax of the seasons will come the month of September -- the time for millions of young people to return once again to tens of thousands of schoolrooms across the land.

In today's world, the sum total of man's knowledge is exploding upward at an accelerating pace. It takes many more years of schooling to become well trained in any field and further to become a well educated human being with the estiblished, permanent desire and ability to continue the learning process throughout life.

The cost of education today is a major tax burden. With this in mind, many of the "older generation" sometimes voice the doubt that "all this schooling is really worth it." They wonder what kind of crop of young people we are raising. Protesters, sit-inners, rioters and school dropouts get a deal of publicity, but they are a tiny proportion of our school population and would probably be in trouble wherever they were and whether they had any education or not.

The real promise of the future lies in the vast majority of hardworking young people who look forward to school days opening again this fall -- not only for the social companionship, excitement and fun of activities, but also, because they feel the stimulation of learning about their heritage and opportunities and exploring the vast fields of knowledge now being unfolded to man's mind. As the school bells ring again, we all should wish them well.

A new physical therapy department is just one element of the expanding role of usefulness of the Missouri Delta Community hospital to Southeast Missouri.

This department will promote healing, restore people to normal pursuits more rapidly and permit them to lead normal or nearly normal lives.

It has a powerful impact on the lives of people in the Bootheel.

But it also will exert an econimic influence that is not minor.

The hospital's usefulness increased, more patients will be attracted, more families visit Sikeston and more dollars flow into the community.

This does more than make doctors prosperous because these people buy food, gasoline and shop for other items.

It will save money, too, in many instances for those needing physical therapy because they can live at home and receive treatment.

It won't be necessary to make long, expensive trips for treatment. Costs can be held down in other important respects.

As the hospital grows so to some extent does the community grow into a better place in which to live and work.

The campaign to raise funds for the new hospital addition never did hit its mark.

Anyone who wishes can write a check made payable to the fund and mail it directly to the hospital.

It still is a good investment and no one knows who may be benefitted next.

CHIPS ARE DOWN

While some of us are old enough to recall the melodramas which featured "dirty work at the crossroads" and other cliff-hanging scenes, we were disturbed to read about the campaign to wipe out the House Committee on UnAmerican Activities.

The article pointed out the newest tactic of the liberal establishment to eliminate the power of this committee "has now been introduced in Congress as H. R. 148."

This provides that the name of the committee shall be changed to the Committee on Internal Security. Changing the name is a neat trick which means that new members can be appointed and that 30 years of seniority attained by members of the present committee would be wiped out.

Moreover, the bill represents a threat to the stability of the legislative process. The Dallas Morning News points out these two reasons why this is so:

If a liberal caucus can kill this committee, which it doesn't like, it can kill any committee which it doesn't like.

HCUA has become the public's last resort as a source of investigation and prosecution of subversive activities when the administration refuses to act through the Department of Justice in these matters.

If this bill should pass, the riots and violence hurled at the committee by left-wing groups bent on destroying the American system of politics will have been rewarded.

This is what happens when legislators take the easy way out.

We don't believe the American people will stand for such behind-the-scenes manipulation on such an important committee that seeks to defend our American heritage.

In the airline business, apparently, nothing exceeds like success.

Expecting a passenger volume of 230 million people a year by 1975, airline executives, airport managers and architects are already getting headaches trying to figure out how to handle all of them.

Just getting 500-some passengers on and off one of the new jumbo jets will be problem enough, let alone arranging for all their baggage to turn up in different cities.

One suggestion that is being run through the fan jet to see if it smokes is to "preload" passengers. This has nothing to do with liquor, although that might help.

The idea is to have passenger pallets that would move into an airplane with passengers already in their seats, thus saving enplaning and deplaning time.

It's coming to that.

H.L. Hunt Says

SOVIET SUBMARINE ACTIVITY

Admiral Rickover recently testified that the Defense Department has ordered a halt to the building of new Polaris type submarines. This decision is expecially unwise in view of the increased activity by Soviet submarines.

United States intelligence authorities have reported that the Soviets are now operating a constant submarine patrol off both coasts of the U. S. and in the Gulf of Mexico. Most of these submarines are nuclear-powered and use a newly built naval base in Cuba.

These vessels chart U.S. coasts and keep a close watch on the arrivals and departures of Polaris submarines. They have also been known to carry espionage agents from Cuba to the United States.

The Soviets have approximately ninety-five missile-carrying submarines in their fleet of 500. The other vessels are often used to follow Polaris submarines on their patrols, thus providing Moscow with important intelligence data.

This activity by Soviet submarines shows that the Kremlin is increasingly aware of the importance of these vessels in a defense system. Our Defense Department, on the other hand, seems to be forgetting their importance.

General Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, recently said: 'There is no question but that the Soviets... have improved their military capabilities vis-a-vis the United States over the past several years." General Wheeler went on to say that the United States has all of the resources necessary to remedy the situation and to restore our military superiority.

One of the first areas in which steps should be taken is in production and deployment of more nuclear-powered Polaris submarines. HLH

Of fat and fate: If you have to diet, you're a born loser

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Guess what three-letter word is causing the most trouble in our fair land?

Hah, I thought you'd say sex. Well, you're wrong, friend.

Sex is for the birds and the bees. Fat is for people.

A government report the other day made the complacent claim that very few Americans suffer from dire hunger. Pure gobbledygook. What about the 30-to40 million blubber-laden U.S. citizens who are dieting?

That's about a fifth of the nation. They feel constantly on the verge of starving. Doesn't their hunger count? It is very real to them.

Personally, I've been on a diet for 48 days and managed to shrink from a wholesome 220 pounds down to 196. My final goal is 180, and it looks farther away than Valhalla or ShangriLa.

The only word for the ordeal is agony. I'd probably have expired weeks ago except for the dog biscuits I was able to sneak and gnaw down when my wife wasn't looking. It has gotten so bad that when I go into the kitchen at the dog's mealtime, he puts his paw on his plate to protect his dinner.

I went on the diet after my doctor examined me and said, "well, you're in shipshape condition."

'Thank you, doc."

"But the ship you're shaped like is a battleship," he said. "Take it off, take it off, take it off."

Easier said than done.

America is the only country in the world where it is easier to lose your mind than it is to lose weight. It is the only country where middle age automatically seems to turn a man from a girl watcher into a weight watcher.

Everything conspires against the person on a diet. He may have lived like a hermit before, but as soon as he goes on a diet he is inundated with invitations to cocktail parties, barbecues, picnics and go dinners with nine courses.

All at once very one he knew wants to take him to or buy him five drinks. If he accepts, then sticks to his regimen of sauerkraut and club soda water, he assumes the role of the skeleton at the feast. If he ducks the invitations, he is dubbed an ungracious heel.

If he talks about his dieting victories to his friends, they decide he has turned into a braggart and dull bore. If he keeps his trap shut about his diet—and it is, of course, the overwhelming thing on his mind—they decide he's turned into a secretive and sullen boor.

It might be thought that dieters at least could find solace and comfort in conversing with each other about their problems. If the other guy has lost 5 ounces more than you have, y don't want to listen to him. you've lost 11 ounches more t he has, he doesn't want to list n to you.

In any case, each of you is sure the other is lying.

Worst of all are the hallucinations. Everything reminds you of a forbidden food. If looking at pretty girls is one of your innocent pleasures in life, it is rather unnerving when you see one to have her, right before your startled eyes, suddenly turn into a chicken dumpling, a mound of mashed potatoes, or a threedecker club sandwich.

Is it all really worth the reward? The reward comes after you finally win the battle against fat, accept the doctor's congratulations, and meet an old pal on the trip home.

"Man, have you been sick?" he asks. "You look like a shadow of your old self. Take a tip from me and put on some weight."

It would be nice to punch him in the nose—if you didn't feel so feeble.

That's the biggest blow to a dieting fatty—even if he loses he rarely wins.

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: Lobbyists had field day during closing rush of congress; truckers' contributions of $75,000 greased way for trucking bills; publicity stopped one truck bill.

Three significant bills were the objective of the truckers' lobby, with assists from the American roadbuilders association, the tire, oil, gas, and concrete lobby.

Lobbying push No. 1 was to limit farm co-op trucks from carrying commercial products on their round trips after delivering farm products to market. This bill was rushed through the house of representatives after 7 out of 9 members on the house subcommittee received campaign contributions from the American trucking association, including Sam Friedel, D-Md., $2,000; John Dingell, D-Mich., $1,500; Samuel Devine, R-Ohio, $1,000; Albert Watson, R-S.C. $1,500; Brock Adams, D-Wash., $1,000; Daniel Ronan, D-Ill., $500; and Glenn Cunningham, R-NEB., $500.

SENATE CONTRIBUTIONS

All are members of the subcommittee of the House Interstate Commerce Committee which considered the trucking bill against farm co-ops. The bill was opposed by the defense department, the budget bureau, the agriculture department and the department of transportation.

Nevertheless, it was passed after only one day of committee hearings, brought to the house floor before the hearings were printed and passed under a suspension of the rules which permitted no amendments. It also slipped through the senate in record form, where liberal campaign contributions were given to Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., $2,000, and Sen. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., $2,375.

Finally it slipped through the White House and was signed into law by the President.

Lobbying push No. 2 was staged by the truckers to double the size of triple-trailer trucks on the federal thruways, which Fred Schwengel, R-Iowa, warned would legalize small "freight trains" and Richard McLaughlin, Massachusetts registrar or motor vehicles, said would make it impossible for motorists to pass safely without at least half a mile of clear-sight distance.

The bill would permit trailer trucks' weight to increase from 73,280 pounds to about 138,000 pounds; would permit almost unlimited length, increase width from 8 to 8½ feet.

Nick Kotz of the Des Moines Register and William Steif of the Scripps-Howard Newspapers deserve credit for revealing the original truckers' lobby contributions to key congressmen. Their revelations were not quick enough to head off the farm co-op bill, but did sidetrack the truck trailer increase bill.

It passed the senate with almost no objection at all, perhaps because the truckers' contributions had been discreetly placed in the campaign kitties of key senators. But disclosure that a total of around $75,000 had been contributed for the truckers' lobby has made some congressmen run for cover, and the second trucking bill has been stopped.

Lobbying push No. 3 secured passage of the federal highway bill which has some important new features such as relocation help for people displaced by thruways and provision for fringe parking on the edge of big cities. But it also undercuts the beautification program, weakens the limitation on billboards, fails to protect parks and historic sites, etc., and forces some local communities to build thruways and bridges they do not want.

Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco battled against the highway lobby to prevent it from building a freeway through the Crystal Springs area, 23,000 acres of parkland near San Francisco.

Mayor Alioto was vigorous in lecturing the highway lobbyists:

"You have overreached yourselves. You are worse than the Southern Pacific in its heyday when Hiram Johnson broke it up. When you get a complex of truckers, tire companies, concrete companies, oil and gas companies, you have one of the most powerful lobbies in the United States. And what the public doesn't realize is that the taxpayers are putting up 90 per cent of the money for thruways which the lobby wants to run through some of the most beautiful parkland in the nation.

"I have never seen such an arrogant array of power," said the Mayor of San Francisco. "You fellows should reread history. You have overstepped yourselves."

Though the highway lobby did not succeed in forcing a mandatory route through the crystal springs park, it did succeed in inserting into the bill a requirement that the District of Columbia build a thruway which the courts have ruled against - at least until public hearings are held -- plus construction of the three sisters bridge across the Potomac which D. C. officials do not want.

These are some of the reasons President Johnson has been concerned over the highway bill.

Note: When this column revealed on July 15 that John Kluczynski, Chicago Democrat and chairman of the subcommittee on highways, had bowed to the lobbies on certain provisions of the highway bill the congressman issued a categoric denial. He said: "I don't associate with lobbyists and I don't accept contributions from them and I didn't yield anything to the lobbyists on the bill." It was later revealed that Kluczynski accepted $3,000 in campaign contributions from the American Truckers Association

Cynthia Lynn Walters Weds James Thomas Hall Sunday

Cynthia Lynn Walters and James Thomas Hall of Cape Girardeau were married at 4 p.m. Sunday in the First Christian church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Walters, 926 Hawthorne. Hall is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Hall, 6 Sylvan Lane, Cape Girardeau.

The Rev. Joseph Wagner officiated at the double ring ceremony. The church was decorated with a 15-branch arch candelabra, white Fuji pompons, eight aisle candles, two nine-branch candelabra and a kneeling bench.

Mrs. J.E. Childress was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length princess style linen gown. A wide band of shell pattern scalloped Venetian lace accented the dress hemline, train, elbow-length sleeves and high oriental neckline. The chapel-length train was attached at the shoulders with covered buttons. Covered buttons extended down the back of the gown.

A queen's crown of the lace outlined with handcut crystals secured a two tiered bouffant veil of English silk illusion. She carried a mantilla bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids with light green caladium leaves.

Miss Robin Walters, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Linda Lansing of Malden, the bride's cousin, and Mrs. Gary Robertson of Jennings. Miss Debra Lansing of Malden, the bride's cousin, was junior bridesmaid.

They wore apricot linen dresses fashioned with scooped necklines and raglan sleeves. The empire waistlines were accented with yellow and moss green flower motifs and moss green velvet bows with floor-length streamers. Each carried a long stem yellow Fuji mum with yellow ribbon and moss green velvet leaves. Miss Walters wore yellow Fuji pompons sprinkled in her hair. The bridesmaids wore yellow Fuji pompon tiaras. They wore linen cloth shoes of moss green.

Don Godwin of Cape Girardeau was best man. Groomsmen were James Reynolds and Robin Erlbacher, both of Cape Girardeau. Ushers were Richard D. Cleek of Cape Girardeau, John Paul Hall of Cape Girardeau, both of the groom, and Lance Walters, the bride's brother.

Mrs. Walters wore a mint green silk brocade dress and jacket with moss green accessories. Mrs. Hall wore a three piece suit of beige silk and worsted with coffee colored accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of phalaenopsis orchids.

The couple received their guests at a reception at the church. A columned wedding cake appointed the bride's table and was topped by a miniature bridal couple surrounded by fresh miniature pompons. Two nine branched candelabra flanked the cake. A circular groom's cake and an arrangment of white mums appointed another table.

Serving were Mrs. Vivan Reed of Malden, Mrs. John Hughes of Florissant, Miss Betty Ebbeson of Campbell and Miss Suzanne Hedrick of Sikeston. Mrs. Rebecca Sharp of New Madrid was in charge.

Mrs. Douglas Reid of Bridgeton was in charge of the guest book.

The couple left on a wedding trip. The new Mrs. Hall wore a white linen dress. The yoke was monogrammed with her new initials. She wore a matching brown linen coat stitched in white, white linen accessories and a corsage of white phalaenopsis orchids.

The couple will live on Flint Hill Drive in Cape Girardeau.

Mrs. Hall is a June graduate of Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau with a bachelor of science degree in biology. Her husband is an August graduate of the college with a bachelor of science degree in chemistry. Both will teach in Scott City.

Choir Begins 10th Year

The Sikeston Community Choir, under the direction of Gordon Beaver and accompanied by Mrs. Pam Blackman, will begin its 10th anniversary year at the first rehearsal Sept. 5, at 7:15 p.m. in the high school choral room.

Plans for the choir will again feature two public formal concerts. The first will be the ninth annual Christmas concert Dec. 15, at 3 p.m. The place has not yet been determined for this traditional concert, but the public will have plenty of room to sit and enjoy this concert. It has always been given at the First Methodist church.

The choir was organized in December of 1959. The sole purpose, at that time, was the singing of Christmas carols at the hospital and at the homes of shut-ins. A group of 29 interested adults got together, learned the music, and went caroling that Christmas season of 1959. The group did not want to disband in January, 1960, so rehearsals were established, more members added, and the first spring Concert was held in April, 1960. The Sikeston Community Choir and the High School Concert Choir joined forces in June, 1960 and formed the 100-voiced Centennial Choir which performed during the week of the Sikeston Centennial Pageant in 1960. From this beginning, the Community Choir has made many public performances for civic organizations in and around Sikeston during these past 10 years. By April the Sikeston Community Choir will have given 22 formal public concerts. This cultural organization makes money only from free-will offerings and public performances during the year. Much of the music and equipment have been purchased by this manner.

As always, the Community Choir encourages new members to try-out for this organization and old members who have dropped out are also encouraged and invited to rejoin the group and renew friendships. All types of voices are welcome to try-out. The try-outs are private, and relatively easy. One needs only to have the reliability and dependability to belong, plus the desire to learn.

Try-outs will continue until Sept. 12. Anyone wishing to try-out call Gordon Beaver, 471-0126, for a try-out time that will be convenient. Low basses are especially needed and there are vacancies for the other mens' parts. Women's parts in all sections, will be limited because of the shortage of choir robes.

If there are any individuals who sang in the Sikeston Community Choir during the 1967-68 season, and who will not be with the group this fall, please notify Beaver as soon as possible so that more new members can be added and more definite plans can be made.

The recently organized Sugar Creek Country Club at Piggott, Arkansas has announced that they will hold their first annual Four Ball Golf Tournament August 30, 31, and September 1. Competition will be over 36 holes with four flights, Championship A, B, and C. Sugar Creek Country Club opened their course last March for play, and the course has 9 holes with exceptionally large dwarf bermuda grass greens.

The qualifying round of 18 holes determines the flight and will count on the total score of 36 holes. Contestants may qualify for other than Championship flight on August 30 or may qualify Saturday, August 30. Championship flight qualifying will be on Saturday, August 31, only.

Free practice rounds may be played any time from August 25 through August 29 for paid entries.

A barbecued chicken dinner is planned for Sunday noon that will be free of charge to all contestants.

Golf carts may be used and brought to the course for use in the competition.

The tournament will be limited to the first 64 paid entries. Trophies will be awarded the winners of each flight, and gift certificates will be awarded to the first three places in each flight. A long - driving contest is also planned.

All area golfers are invited to enter the competition.

Trolling can cause even the best behaved of fishing lines to act like a teen-ager doing the twist.

To prevent twisted and fouled lines caused by trolling, the fishering experts offer a few ideas that lessen this ever present problem.

It's important to realize that nearly all lures will revolve while being towed underwater. But, they do not all turn in the same direction.

Before chucking a lure over the transom, check its natural direction of spin by dragging the plug or piece of hardware alongside for a few seconds. Do this with several different lures. When the time comes to snap on a new one, select a model that revolves in the opposite direction.

Swivels should always be used between line and lure. They help some, but do not prevent twist.

Keels or keel sinkers rigged ahead of the plug are far more effective in eliminating problems.

Keels have another value that is seldom recognized. Bright metal styles often call attention to the trailing bait of lure and result in a greater number of strikes. They also reduce short striking incidents, particularly when long eels or pork rinds are used.

At intervals, remove the plug and allow the line torrum free from a few minutes. Do this again while cruising back to the dock at day's end.

The twist may be okay for the kids, but let's keep it out of fishing.

Manager Leo Durocher of the Chicago Cubs and relief ace Phil Regan are satisfied, but National League President Warren Giles might have picked up a king sized headache over the illegal pitch incident.

Giles met with Durocher, Regan and John Holland, vice president of the Cubs, Tuesday and then issued a statement absolving Regan of any wrong doing in Sunday's hassle over illegal pitches.

Umpire Chris Pelekoudas called illegal pitches on Regan during the first game of a doubleheader with Cincinnati. Pelekoudas said he couldn't find any evidence on the ball but he was sure a foreign substance was being used by Regan after seeing the flight of the ball.

"A sinker spins when it breaks," said Pelekoudas. "And a ball with Vaseline on it breaks down without a spin."

Durocher and two other Cubs were thrown out of the game following heated arguments, and Regan had his head, face and the sweat band of his cap wiped off by Umpire Shag Crawford.

The Cubs demanded a hearing.

Giles, in absolving Regan, said, "I know Phil and have respect for him and felt a gentleman like he should be shown the consideration and courtesy of hearing him.

"Phil told me he did not have Vaseline or other lubricant on his sweat band and I believe him," said Giles.

"Chris Pelekoudas suspected he did have lubricant of some kind, but told me his judgment of an illegal pitch was based almost entirely on the action on the ball in flight, and seems convinced it acted like a so-called spit ball."

"This is a most difficult problem for the umpires and they are being urged on all sides to enforce violators of illegal pitches."

Giles said he would talk to the Crawford umpiring crew when the umpires arrive in Cincinnati later this week. The other members of the crew are Doug Harvey and John Kibler.

Giles said he would confer with them and other umpiring crews as to "how is the best way to handle this perplexing problem - uniformity in enforcement is very desirable."

Giles said he had not talked to the umpires and had not issued any new instructions such as telling the umpires to cease the practice initiated by Pelekoudas of calling illegal pitches because of the flight of the ball.

However, it seemed the umpires got the message merely by the presence of Giles in Chicago. Regan worked during the sixth and seventh innings of Tuesday's game and went through his usual motions and pitched as he always has. This time no illegal pitches were called and Crawford was behind the plate.

The three leaders in races for 1968 championships in professional rodeo's riding events each won top money in their specialties at the Sidney, Ia., rodeo, which ended its 10-performance run Sunday.

The Rodeo Cowboys Association said there were 173 entries at Sidney, competing for shares of $24,695. The All Around Cowboy (winning the most in two or more events) was Tom Bews, Longview, Alta., who pocketed $1,336 in saddle bronc riding and steer wrestling.

Clyde Vamvoras, Burkburnett, Tex., 1967 bareback bronc riding champion, enhanced his lead for the 1968 crown by winning that event and $999, bringing his season's take to $17,539. Shawn Davis, Whitehall, Mont., last year's saddle bronc riding king, won $764 at Sidney and has the event lead for the year with $15,342.

George Paul, 21, Del Rio, Tex., in only his second full year as a pro, won the Sidney bull riding, worth $812, and extended his season's lead to $15,659.

In second place in world bull riding charts is 47-year-old Freckles Brown, Soper, Okla. Brown was operated on for a blood clot in his leg during the Sidney rodeo, and is temporarily sidelined.

Rodeos also ended at Rapid City, S.D., and Louisville, Ky., over the weekend.

Ralph Maynard, formerly of Eagle Butte, S.D., and now of Cody, Wyo., has made a strong surge recently in saddle bronc riding. He won that event at Rapid City, placed fourth at Sidney, and pocketed $1,055.

Pat Chapman of Sturgis, S D., a collegiate rodeo titlist, won $812 in bareback and saddle bronc riding at Rapid city.

One of the big weekend money winners was Tony Haberer, Andrews, Tex., who picked up $636 in bareback bronc and bull riding in South Dakota, plus $436 in bull riding at Sidney. Haberer, pro rodeo's 1966 Rookie of the Year, is now ranked ninth in world All Around standings, third in bull riding and 12th in bareback bronc riding.

The biggest money-grabber was Sonny Worrell, Altoona, Kan., who snared $1,722 in calf roping at Sidney.

Bobby Goodspeed of High Ridge, Mo., lived up to his name, winning $750 in calf roping at Louisville.

Louisville's All Around titlist was H. B. Johnson, Horatio, Ark., who won $584 in bareback bronc riding and steer wrestling. Anson Thurman, Fallon, Nev., was the All Around titlist at Rapid City, winning $847 in steer wrestling and calf roping. Rapid City had 127 entries, with $9,549 in prize money, while Louisville had 88 entries and $8,520 up for grabs.

The world's All Around crownholder in 1966 and '67, Larry Mahan, 24, Brooks, Ore., had a relatively slow week. Mahan has been winning at better than a $1,000-a-week clip, but took in only $801 at Sidney in the three riding events. Mahan holds the 1968 All Around lead with $32,210. In second place is Omaha's Jim Houston with $26,245.

Jack Roddy of San Jose, Calif., brought his season's steer wrestling lead to $20,995 by winning $654 in that event at Moses Lake, Wash. Roddy appears certain to break that event's money record of $30,715, set last year by Oklahoma's Roy Duvall, who trails Roddy for this year's crown, the R.C.A. said.

Hitter Break Through In NL

The whiff turned into the wham and the basepaths locked like freeways. In the National League Wednesday it was the day of the hitter in this year of the pitcher.

Instead of swinging and missing as so often has been the case this year, the batters seemed to be hitting every ball thrown their way.

The five winning teams banged out 93 hits and scored 64 runs in six games. Even the losing clubs managed 50 hits.

The Chicago Cubs and San Francisco Giants started the barrage in the afternoon. The Cubs whipped Atlanta 5-4 and 13-5 and the Giants trounced the New York Mets 13-3.

Pittsburgh climaxed the assault at night with a 19-1 walloping of Cincinnati. In between, St. Louis topped Philadelphia 8-3 and Houston ripped Los Angeles 6-1.

In the American League, Detroit edged the Chicago White Sox 3-2 in 10 innings, the New York Yankees downed Minnesota 2-1, Cleveland whipped Boston 8-2 and Baltimore nipped California 4-3 in 15 innings.

Oakland and Washington ere not scheduled.

Pittsburgh's 19 runs were high for he majors this season. So were the Pirates 23 hits.

Matty Alou and Gene Alley both collected four hits and Manny Mota, Roberto Clenente and Bill Mazeroski three apiece for the Pirates.

In the second game, the Cubs, who had trailed 5-0, went ahead to stay, 7-5, on Williams' two-run single in the sixth.

Willie Mays highlighted a sixrun San Francisco fifth inning with a two-run homer, his 16th of the season and 580th of his carreer, and Juan Marichal coasted to his 23rd victory of the season.

While the Giants were batting in the sixth, their dugout and that of the Mets and the tarpualin were searched after New York police received two calls that a bomb had been planted. Nothing was found and play continued after a delay of about five minutes.

The crowd of 32,023 was not disturbed during the bomb search.

Phil Gagliano and Tim McCarver both singled in two runs in St. Louis' victory over Philadelphia. The Cardinals took a 4-3 lead in the fifth on run-scoring singles by Gagliano, Bob Tolan and Roger Maris.

Rusty Staub provided the big bat for Houston, whose 10 hits were the lowest total for any winning team. Staub singled home one of two runs in the third and then singled in a pair is the fifth.

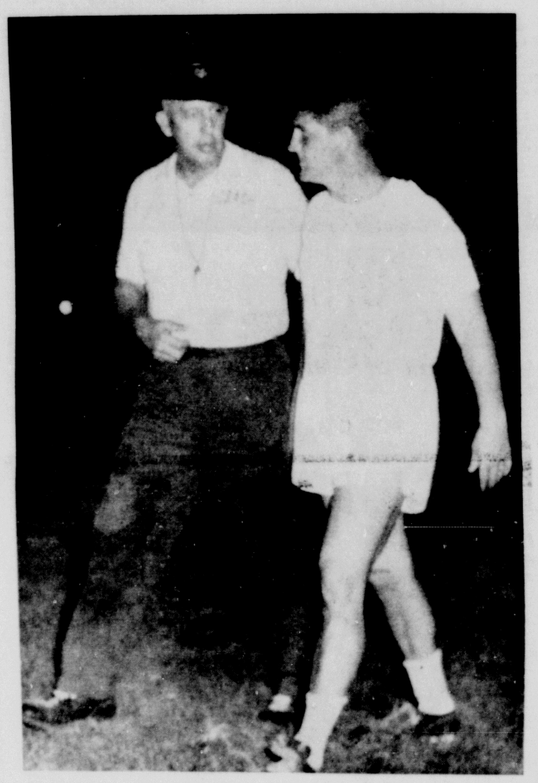

CORNING'S entry into the South Plains regional Connie Mack baseball tournament failed to post a victory, although it out-hit the two opponents it faced before being eliminated. BATTING-Billy Williams, Cubs, drove in nine runs-seven in the second game-with his 22nd homer, a double, three singles and a sacrifice fly as Chicago swept a doubleheader from Atlanta 5-4 and 13-5.

PITCHING-Al Downing, Yankee, allowed three hits in 8 1-3 innings-his longest effort of the season-for a 2-1 victory over Minnesota.

Head Coach, William R. Sapp, and Line Coach Norman Lambert discuss plans prior to last night's scrimmage of the Sikeston high school football team.

Bulldogs Sharp in Scrimmage

By DAN SPEARS
STANDARD SPORTS EDITOR

The Bulldogs gridders held their first scrimmage of the season last night. Head Coach Bill Sapp is confident of his team after the tenth practice for the experienced gridmen.

With more than three weeks remaining before opening night against the Mayfield, Ky., eleven, Sapp dommented that he was pleased with the progress of the boys.

The morning practice yesterday was cut relatively short because of the heat but was back in full swing at night. Before the hard hitting twenty-five minute scrimmage the squad was split into groups. The boys went through strenuous agility drills.

Coach Norman Lambert, head line coach, commented that the interior line was shaping up as good, if not better, than could be expected so early in the season. "Condition and speed is evident in this years squad," voiced Coach Sapp. In the backfield. Halfback Dennis Snelling and Art Jackson both fly through the 100-yard dash in 9.9 seconds, followed by Fullback Turner Marshall, who runs it in 10.2 seconds. Quarterback Bruce Farris also pushes on across not to far behind. Another senior prospective halfback, who is also blessed with speed, is Terry Bryant. Bryant, a defensive specialist, has been showing great improvement on offense.

Today's practices are both scheduled in the daytime, so as not to have two night practices in a row. The practices were at 9 a.m. this morning and 3 p.m. this afternoon, concentrating on short drills and conditioning.

The Dogs are supposed to be back in full swing Friday night with another short scrimmage.

Trades Highlight Football Circuit

Thirty-one is a pretty young age to start a comeback. But Art Powell, hoping a game knee that cut short a brilliant American Football League career will hold up, was trying just that today with Minnesota Vikings.

Powell, a wide receiver signed by the National Football League team Wednesday as a free agent, caught enough passes in eight seasons with the New York Jets, Oakland Raiders and Buffalo Bills to rank second among all-time AFL receivers.

But he was curtailed by a knee injury last season and the Bills finally turned him loose.

The 6-foot-2, 212-pounder snared 478 passes for 8,015 yards during his AFL career and his total of 81 touchdown receptions is a league record. He also ranks fourth among alltime AFL scoring leaders with 486 points.

The Vikings also traded a draft choice to Baltimore Wednesday for another wide receiver, Rich O'Hara, the Colts' No. 3 draft pick,.

In Florida, things were almost back to normal at the Miami Dolphins' camp, where a slight siege of the flu struck several players earlier in the week.

Coach George Wilson said the entire squad should be at full strength for an exhibition with Boston-one of four preseason games on tap Friday night.

Other activity that evening has San Francisco, NFL, at Denver, AFL; Baltimore, NFL, at Detroit, NFL, and Buffalo, AFL, vs. Houston, AFL, at Tulsa, Okla.

The Dophins also announced they had traded John Roderick, who appeared in only one game last season after undergoing a back operation, to Oakland for an undisclosed draft choice. Two seasons ago, as a rookie, Roderick caught 11 passes for 154 yards in five games.

In other developments around the training camps, Pittsburgh signed holdout Frank Parker, a defensive tackle. Parker was obtained in a four-man trade with Cleveland but refused to report to the Steelers' camp because, he said, he wasn't offered enough money.

The Boston Patriots place four players on waivers, including veteran split and Jerry Lamb, who spent three ears with Kansas City before being signed by the Pats as a free agent, and rockie linebacker Burl Wood of West Texas State.

Defensive tackle Henry Jordan practiced for the first time since he was injured in the College All-Star Game as the Green Bay Packers worked out for the first time since Monday night's loss to Chicago-second straight exhibition loss for the world champs.

However, it was doubtful that Jordan would be ready in time for the Packers' game at Dallas Saturday night.

Meanwhile, the Bears' defensive tackle, John Johnson, who received the game ball after Chicago's stunner, will be lost for at least two months because of a small bone fracture.

Johnson apparently played part of the game with the Packers with the fracture but it wasn't discovered until two days later.

The recently organized Sugar Creek Country Club at Piggott, Arkansas has announced that they will hold their first annual Four Ball Golf Tournament August 30, 31, and September 1. Competition will be over 36 holes with four flights, Championship A, B, and C. Sugar Creek Country Club opened their course last March for play, and the course has 9 holes with exceptionally large dwarf bermuda grass greens.

Trolling can cause even the best behaved of fishing lines to act like a teen-ager doing the twist.

To prevent twisted and fouled lines caused by trolling, the fishering experts offer a few ideas that lessen this ever present problem.

It's important to realize that nearly all lures will revolve while being towed underwater. But, they do not all turn in the same direction.

Before chucking a lure over the transom, check its natural direction of spin by dragging the plug or piece of hardware alongside for a few seconds. Do this with several different lures. When the time comes to snap on a new one, select a model that revolves in the opposite direction.

Swivels should always be used between line and lure. They help some, but do not prevent twist.

Keels or keel sinkers rigged ahead of the plug are far more effective in eliminating problems.

Keels have another value that is seldom recognized. Bright metal styles often call attention to the trailing bait of lure and result in a greater number of strikes. They also reduce short striking incidents, particularly when long eels or pork rinds are used.

At intervals, remove the plug and allow the line torrum free from a few minutes. Do this again while cruising back to the dock at day's end.

The twist may be okay for the kids, but let's keep it out of fishing.

Manager Leo Durocher of the Chicago Cubs and relief ace Phil Regan are satisfied, but National League President Warren Giles might have picked up a king sized headache over the illegal pitch incident.

Giles met with Durocher, Regan and John Holland, vice president of the Cubs, Tuesday and then issued a statement absolving Regan of any wrong doing in Sunday's hassle over illegal pitches.

Umpire Chris Pelekoudas called illegal pitches on Regan during the first game of a doubleheader with Cincinnati. Pelekoudas said he couldn't find any evidence on the ball but he was sure a foreign substance was being used by Regan after seeing the flight of the ball.

"A sinker spins when it breaks," said Pelekoudas. "And a ball with Vaseline on it breaks down without a spin."

Durocher and two other Cubs were thrown out of the game following heated arguments, and Regan had his head, face and the sweat band of his cap wiped off by Umpire Shag Crawford.

The Cubs demanded a hearing.

Giles, in absolving Regan, said, "I know Phil and have respect for him and felt a gentleman like he should be shown the consideration and courtesy of hearing him.

"Phil told me he did not have Vaseline or other lubricant on his sweat band and I believe him," said Giles.

"Chris Pelekoudas suspected he did have lubricant of some kind, but told me his judgment of an illegal pitch was based almost entirely on the action on the ball in flight, and seems convinced it acted like a so-called spit ball."

"This is a most difficult problem for the umpires and they are being urged on all sides to enforce violators of illegal pitches."

Giles said he would talk to the Crawford umpiring crew when the umpires arrive in Cincinnati later this week. The other members of the crew are Doug Harvey and John Kibler.

Giles said he would confer with them and other umpiring crews as to "how is the best way to handle this perplexing problem - uniformity in enforcement is very desirable."

Giles said he had not talked to the umpires and had not issued any new instructions such as telling the umpires to cease the practice initiated by Pelekoudas of calling illegal pitches because of the flight of the ball.

However, it seemed the umpires got the message merely by the presence of Giles in Chicago. Regan worked during the sixth and seventh innings of Tuesday's game and went through his usual motions and pitched as he always has. This time no illegal pitches were called and Crawford was behind the plate.

The three leaders in races for 1968 championships in professional rodeo's riding events each won top money in their specialties at the Sidney, Ia., rodeo, which ended its 10-performance run Sunday.

The Rodeo Cowboys Association said there were 173 entries at Sidney, competing for shares of $24,695. The All Around Cowboy (winning the most in two or more events) was Tom Bews, Longview, Alta., who pocketed $1,336 in saddle bronc riding and steer wrestling.

Clyde Vamvoras, Burkburnett, Tex., 1967 bareback bronc riding champion, enhanced his lead for the 1968 crown by winning that event and $999, bringing his season's take to $17,539. Shawn Davis, Whitehall, Mont., last year's saddle bronc riding king, won $764 at Sidney and has the event lead for the year with $15,342.

George Paul, 21, Del Rio, Tex., in only his second full year as a pro, won the Sidney bull riding, worth $812, and extended his season's lead to $15,659.

In second place in world bull riding charts is 47-year-old Freckles Brown, Soper, Okla. Brown was operated on for a blood clot in his leg during the Sidney rodeo, and is temporarily sidelined.

Rodeos also ended at Rapid City, S.D., and Louisville, Ky., over the weekend.

Ralph Maynard, formerly of Eagle Butte, S.D., and now of Cody, Wyo., has made a strong surge recently in saddle bronc riding. He won that event at Rapid City, placed fourth at Sidney, and pocketed $1,055.

Pat Chapman of Sturgis, S D., a collegiate rodeo titlist, won $812 in bareback and saddle bronc riding at Rapid city.

One of the big weekend money winners was Tony Haberer, Andrews, Tex., who picked up $636 in bareback bronc and bull riding in South Dakota, plus $436 in bull riding at Sidney. Haberer, pro rodeo's 1966 Rookie of the Year, is now ranked ninth in world All Around standings, third in bull riding and 12th in bareback bronc riding.

The biggest money-grabber was Sonny Worrell, Altoona, Kan., who snared $1,722 in calf roping at Sidney.

Bobby Goodspeed of High Ridge, Mo., lived up to his name, winning $750 in calf roping at Louisville.

Louisville's All Around titlist was H. B. Johnson, Horatio, Ark., who won $584 in bareback bronc riding and steer wrestling. Anson Thurman, Fallon, Nev., was the All Around titlist at Rapid City, winning $847 in steer wrestling and calf roping. Rapid City had 127 entries, with $9,549 in prize money, while Louisville had 88 entries and $8,520 up for grabs.

The world's All Around crownholder in 1966 and '67, Larry Mahan, 24, Brooks, Ore., had a relatively slow week. Mahan has been winning at better than a $1,000-a-week clip, but took in only $801 at Sidney in the three riding events. Mahan holds the 1968 All Around lead with $32,210. In second place is Omaha's Jim Houston with $26,245.

Jack Roddy of San Jose, Calif., brought his season's steer wrestling lead to $20,995 by winning $654 in that event at Moses Lake, Wash. Roddy appears certain to break that event's money record of $30,715, set last year by Oklahoma's Roy Duvall, who trails Roddy for this year's crown, the R.C.A. said.

Hitter Break Through In NL

The whiff turned into the wham and the basepaths locked like freeways. In the National League Wednesday it was the day of the hitter in this year of the pitcher.

Instead of swinging and missing as so often has been the case this year, the batters seemed to be hitting every ball thrown their way.

The five winning teams banged out 93 hits and scored 64 runs in six games. Even the losing clubs managed 50 hits.

The Chicago Cubs and San Francisco Giants started the barrage in the afternoon. The Cubs whipped Atlanta 5-4 and 13-5 and the Giants trounced the New York Mets 13-3.

Pittsburgh climaxed the assault at night with a 19-1 walloping of Cincinnati. In between, St. Louis topped Philadelphia 8-3 and Houston ripped Los Angeles 6-1.

In the American League, Detroit edged the Chicago White Sox 3-2 in 10 innings, the New York Yankees downed Minnesota 2-1, Cleveland whipped Boston 8-2 and Baltimore nipped California 4-3 in 15 innings.

Oakland and Washington ere not scheduled.

Pittsburgh's 19 runs were high for he majors this season. So were the Pirates 23 hits.

Matty Alou and Gene Alley both collected four hits and Manny Mota, Roberto Clenente and Bill Mazeroski three apiece for the Pirates.

In the second game, the Cubs, who had trailed 5-0, went ahead to stay, 7-5, on Williams' two-run single in the sixth.

Willie Mays highlighted a sixrun San Francisco fifth inning with a two-run homer, his 16th of the season and 580th of his carreer, and Juan Marichal coasted to his 23rd victory of the season.

While the Giants were batting in the sixth, their dugout and that of the Mets and the bullpen were searched after New York police received two calls that a bomb had been planted. Nothing was found and play continued after a delay of about five minutes.

The crowd of 32,023 was not disturbed during the bomb search.

Phil Gagliano and Tim McCarver both singled in two runs in St. Louis' victory over Philadelphia. The Cardinals took a 4-3 lead in the fifth on run-scoring singles by Gagliano, Bob Tolan and Roger Maris.

Rusty Staub provided the big bat for Houston, whose 10 hits were the lowest total for any winning team. Staub singled home one of two runs in the third and then singled in a pair is the fifth.

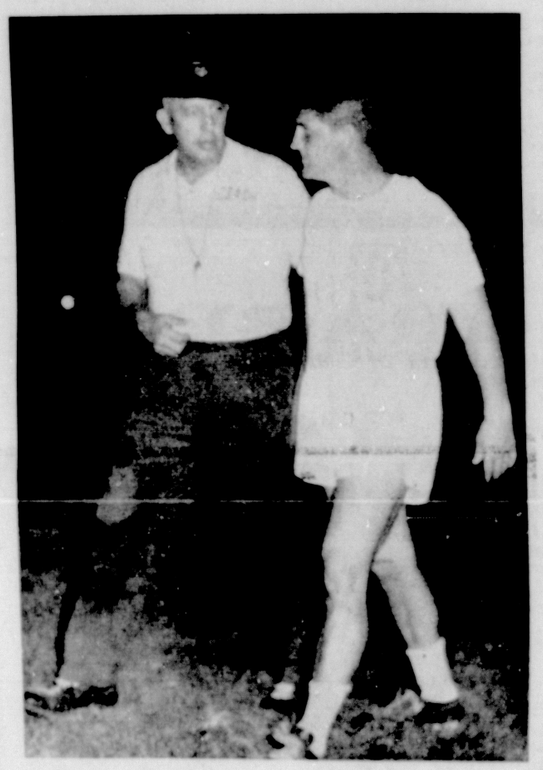

CORNING'S entry into the South Plains regional Connie Mack baseball tournament failed to post a victory, although it out-hit the two opponents it faced before being eliminated. Stars

BATTING-Billy Williams, Cubs, drove in nine runs-seven in the second game-with his 22nd homer, a double, three singles and a sacrifice fly as Chicago swept a doubleheader from Atlanta 5-4 and 13-5.

PITCHING-Al Downing, Yankee, allowed three hits in 8 1-3 innings-his longest effort of the season-for a 2-1 victory over Minnesota.

Head Coach, William R. Sapp, and Line Coach Norman Lambert discuss plans prior to last night's scrimmage of the Sikeston high school football team.

Bulldogs Sharp in Scrimmage

By DAN SPEARS
STANDARD SPORTS EDITOR

The Bulldogs gridders held their first scrimmage of the season last night. Head Coach Bill Sapp is confident of his team after the tenth practice for the experienced gridmen.

With more than three weeks remaining before opening night against the Mayfield, Ky., eleven, Sapp dommented that he was pleased with the progress of the boys.

The morning practice yesterday was cut relatively short because of the heat but was back in full swing at night. Before the hard hitting twenty-five minute scrimmage the squad was split into groups. The boys went through strenuous agility drills.

Coach Norman Lambert, head line coach, commented that the interior line was shaping up as good, if not better, than could be expected so early in the season. "Condition and speed is evident in this years squad," voiced Coach Sapp. In the backfield. Halfback Dennis Snelling and Art Jackson both fly through the 100-yard dash in 9.9 seconds, followed by Fullback Turner Marshall, who runs it in 10.2 seconds. Quarterback Bruce Farris also pushes on across not to far behind. Another senior prospective halfback, who is also blessed with speed, is Terry Bryant. Bryant, a defensive specialist, has been showing great improvement on offense.

Today's practices are both scheduled in the daytime, so as not to have two night practices in a row. The practices were at 9 a.m. this morning and 3 p.m. this afternoon, concentrating on short drills and conditioning.

The Dogs are supposed to be back in full swing Friday night with another short scrimmage.

Trades Highlight Football Circuit

Thirty-one is a pretty young age to start a comeback. But Art Powell, hoping a game knee that cut short a brilliant American Football League career will hold up, was trying just that today with Minnesota Vikings.

Powell, a wide receiver signed by the National Football League team Wednesday as a free agent, caught enough passes in eight seasons with the New York Jets, Oakland Raiders and Buffalo Bills to rank second among all-time AFL receivers.

But he was curtailed by a knee injury last season and the Bills finally turned him loose.

The 6-foot-2, 212-pounder snared 478 passes for 8,015 yards during his AFL career and his total of 81 touchdown receptions is a league record. He also ranks fourth among alltime AFL scoring leaders with 486 points.

The Vikings also traded a draft choice to Baltimore Wednesday for another wide receiver, Rich O'Hara, the Colts' No. 3 draft pick,.

In Florida, things were almost back to normal at the Miami Dolphins' camp, where a slight siege of the flu struck several players earlier in the week.

Coach George Wilson said the entire squad should be at full strength for an exhibition with Boston-one of four preseason games on tap Friday night.

Other activity that evening has San Francisco, NFL, at Denver, AFL; Baltimore, NFL, at Detroit, NFL, and Buffalo, AFL, vs. Houston, AFL, at Tulsa, Okla.

The Dophins also announced they had traded John Roderick, who appeared in only one game last season after undergoing a back operation, to Oakland for an undisclosed draft choice. Two seasons ago, as a rockie, Roderick caught 11 passes for 154 yards in five games.

In other developments around the training camps, Pittsburgh signed holdout Frank Parker, a defensive tackle. Parker was obtained in a four-man trade with Cleveland but refused to report to the Steelers' camp because, he said, he wasn't offered enough money.

The Boston Patriots place four players on waivers, including veteran split and Jerry Lamb, who spent three ears with Kansas City before being signed by the Pats as a free agent, and rockie linebacker Burl Wood of West Texas State.

Defensive tackle Henry Jordan practiced for the first time since he was injured in the College All-Star Game as the Green Bay Packers worked out for the first time since Monday night's loss to Chicago-second straight exhibition loss for the world champs.

However, it was doubtful that Jordan would be ready in time for the Packers' game at Dallas Saturday night.

Meanwhile, the Bears' defensive tackle, John Johnson, who received the game ball after Chicago's stunner, will be lost for at least two months because of a small bone fracture.

Johnson apparently played part of the game with the Packers with the fracture but it wasn't discovered until two days later.

Farm Program Checks Being Distributed

BENTON - The Scott county Agriculteral, Stablization and Conservation Service committee has authorized distribution of payments under the 1968 feed grain and cotton programs to begin Aug. 15.

These payments are being handed to farmers who drop by the office. Others are mailed to program participants.

Payments under the 1968 wheat program were authorized to be made beginning July 15. Most producers already have received their share. These drafts are computed and written in New Orleans then mailed to the county ASC offices for distribution.

"If you do not receive your check within the next week or so, it is probably because we have not received it from New Orleans," Kenneth E. Vowels, office manager said. "As soon as they arrive in the county office they will be signed and forwarded to producers."

Annual program payments to feed grain participants in the county in 1967 amounted to approximately $635,000. County cotton program cooperators received approximately $1 million for cutting back 1967 crop production.

A target date of Sept. 1 has been set for completion of payments to farmers."

Portageville Native Receives Police Award

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) - Sgt. J. M. Luker of the Missouri Highway Patrol today received a $1,500 scholarship toward a year's study in traffic police administration at Northwestern University.

The award was offered by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, an association of automobile insurance companies interested in greater highway safety.

Making the presentation was A. D. Sappington of Columbia, president of the MFA insurance companies. He said Luker was one of 55 police officers chosen from among more than 250 applicants.

Col. E. I. (Mike) Hockaday, patrol superintendent, said Luker probably will be assigned to the new patrol training academy when he completes the administrative course next June. The academy is being built near patrol headquarters here.

Luker is a native of Portageville, Mo. Now in his 10th year with the patrol, he is traffic safety officer for Troop F at Jefferson City.

Farm Program Checks Being Distributed

BENTON - The Scott county Agriculteral, Stablization and Conservation Service committee has authorized distribution of payments under the 1968 feed grain and cotton programs to begin Aug. 15.

These payments are being handed to farmers who drop by the office. Others are mailed to program participants.

Payments under the 1968 wheat program were authorized to be made beginning July 15. Most producers already have received their share. These drafts are computed and written in New Orleans then mailed to the county ASC offices for distribution.

"If you do not receive your check within the next week or so, it is probably because we have not received it from New Orleans," Kenneth E. Vowels, office manager said. "As soon as they arrive in the county office they will be signed and forwarded to producers."

Annual program payments to feed grain participants in the county in 1967 amounted to approximately $635,000. County cotton program cooperators received approximately $1 million for cutting back 1967 crop production.

A target date of Sept. 1 has been set for completion of payments to farmers."

Researchers Seek Better Combat Rations

Artist's drawing shows field use of dehydrated foods packaged for soldiers.

An important military commodity, but one that is not often noticed, is under constant study by food scientists and technologists at the U.S. Army Natick Laboratories, Natick, Mass.

That commodity is a combat soldier's meal, something nourishing, yet tasty; lightweight and easy to carry, yet simple to prepare.

Infantrymen on long-range patrols in Vietnam quickly discovered that the food supply they were able to carry with them became immensely important in the jungles where normal resupply was impossible.

To make this food supply better, Natick Labs has an extensive research and development program to improve the quality of the food and develop rations that are suitable for use under widely varying tactical conditions.

Among the items prepared for field use is the Long Range Patrol Food Packet. This consists of a precooked, dehydrated combination food in a package that can also be used to reconstitute the food. In addition to the main meal, the packet contains a confection, cereal or fruitcake bar, coffee, cream, sugar and, sometimes, cocoa beverage.

Currently, food specialists at Natick are working to perfect a special kind of dehydration—called freeze drying—to improve the long range patrol rations.

Freeze drying is a fairly new method of food preservation that also results in significant weight reduction. This process appears to be suitable for preservation of all types of meats, fruits and vegetables, making it possible to supply a greater variety of dehydrated foods.

Also, freeze drying results in substantially better taste than some other dehydration methods. When water is added, the product closely resembles the original product in flavor, texture, shape and size.

In the research and development program at Natick, two operations are involved in freeze drying. The first is freezing the food in essentially the same manner as conventional food freezing.

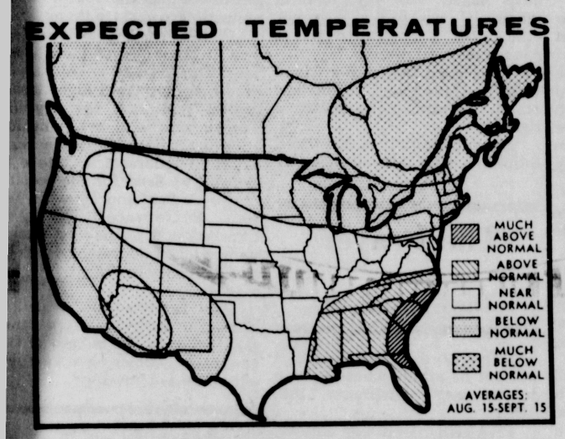

The second operation is the drying. The frozen product is placed in a vacuum chamber and the ice is removed by a process called sublimation, in which the ice crystals pass directly into a vapor without melting.

The whole process takes four to 16 hours, depending on the food. The dehydrated product retains its shape, which results in faster and more complete rehydration.

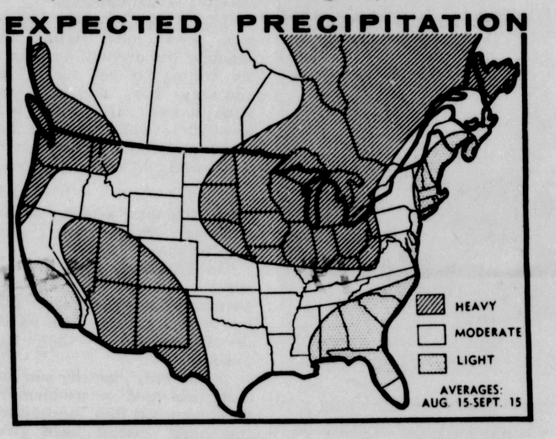

In the field, the dehydrated foods can be reconstituted with hot or cold water, or, if necessary, eaten dry — like popcorn — with drinking water. (ANF)

WALLACE TO BE ON MISSOURI BALLOT
Floyd Kitchen (right), Missouri Co-ordinator, talks to the radio and TV audience as he presents the ballot petitions for George Wallace to Secretary of State James Kirkpatrick. The petitions, filed under the name of the American Party of Missouri, contained over 62,000 signatures. The minimum required to enter Wallace's name on the ballot was 18,400. The petitions were the result of thousands of volunteer workers all over the State who carried on a "face to face" campaign to get Wallace's name on the ballot in Missouri. Missouri was the 40th State qualified for ballot position and Wallace expects to be on the ballot in 48 States.

Researchers Seek Better Combat Rations

An important military commodity, but one that is not often noticed, is under constant study by food scientists and technologists at the U.S. Army Natick Laboratories, Natick, Mass.

That commodity is a combat soldier's meal, something nourishing, yet tasty; lightweight and easy to carry, yet simple to prepare.

Infantrymen on long-range patrols in Vietnam quickly discovered that the food supply they were able to carry with them became immensely important in the jungles where normal resupply was impossible.

To make this food supply better, Natick Labs has an extensive research and development program to improve the quality of the food and develop rations that are suitable for use under widely varying tactical conditions.

Among the items prepared for field use is the Long Range Patrol Food Packet. This consists of a precooked, dehydrated combination food in a package that can also be used to reconstitute the food. In addition to the main meal, the packet contains a confection, cereal or fruitcake bar, coffee, cream, sugar and, sometimes, cocoa beverage.

Currently, food specialists at Natick are working to perfect a special kind of dehydration—called freeze drying—to improve the long range patrol rations.

Freeze drying is a fairly new method of food preservation that also results in significant weight reduction. This process appears to be suitable for preservation of all types of meats, fruits and vegetables, making it possible to supply a greater variety of dehydrated foods.

Also, freeze drying results in substantially better taste than some other dehydration methods. When water is added, the product closely resembles the original product in flavor, texture, shape and size.

In the research and development program at Natick, two operations are involved in freeze drying. The first is freezing the food in essentially the same manner as conventional food freezing.

The second operation is the drying. The frozen product is placed in a vacuum chamber and the ice is removed by a process called sublimation, in which the ice crystals pass directly into a vapor without melting.

The whole process takes four to 16 hours, depending on the food. The dehydrated product retains its shape, which results in faster and more complete rehydration.

In the field, the dehydrated foods can be reconstituted with hot or cold water, or, if necessary, eaten dry — like popcorn — with drinking water. (ANF)

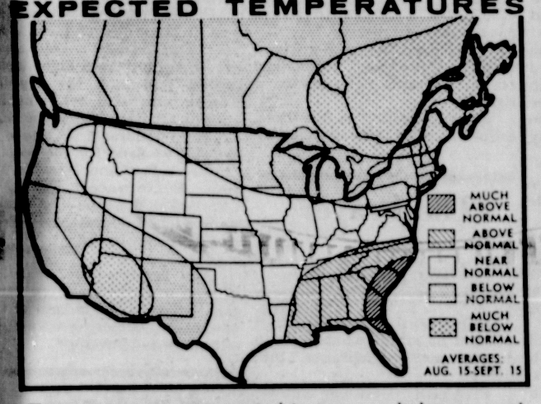

Artist's drawing shows field use of dehydrated foods packaged for soldiers.

WALLACE TO BE ON MISSOURI BALLOT
Floyd Kitchen (right), Missouri Co-ordinator, talks to the radio and TV audience as he presents the ballot petitions for George Wallace to Secretary of State James Kirkpatrick. The petitions, filed under the name of the American Party of Missouri, contained over 62,000 signatures. The minimum required to enter Wallace's name on the ballot was 18,400. The petitions were the result of thousands of volunteer workers all over the State who carried on a "face to face" campaign to get Wallace's name on the ballot in Missouri. Missouri was the 40th State qualified for ballot position and Wallace expects to be on the ballot in 48 States.

BOY ABOUT TOWN—Coveralls are updated in pinwale cotton corduroy for the stylish young boy. They're teamed with a striped cotton knit pullover, and matching cap. By Buster Brown.

NEAT—No shirt-tail problems here. These two-toned cotton denim jeans are designed with an elastic webbed waistband that holds the shirt in. Cone Mills' sturdy denim comes in shades ranging from coffee to black olive. By Bumble Beezzzz.

SPORTY—A nifty sports ensemble features Jamaica shorts and a cotton knit shirt emblazoned with a St. Tropez motif. By Miss Ingenue, it's teamed with a visored cap in a matching stripe.

GAUCHO STYLE—The Spanish mood takes over with midi culottes a la gaucho. Jack Winter interprets the new look in camel-colored cotton corduroy. A matching man-tailored shirt in paisley-printed cotton completes the outfit.

River Travelers Stop In Caruthersville

CARUTHERSVILLE Last Thursday, two bearded characters walked into the Pemiscot Publishing Company in Caruthersville. They had traveled from the northern end of the Mississippi river and were heading to New Orleans.

Dan Glasco and Clarence Redburn, both of Michigan, decided last May that they were going to travel down the Mississippi, the full length. The first thing needed to travel on the river is a boat, and the two men built one in two weeks. The boat is about twelve feet long, two or three feet wide, and weights approximately 100 pounds. It is powered by four arms and two paddles.

Clarence Redburn is employed at a General Motors Company in Flint, Mich. Glasco is a carpenter and lives in Davison, Mich. They have lived on the river since the 20th of May.

"Have you ever read about the safaris in Africa, and wished you could take one," asked Redburn,"Well we did not have the money to do that so we are exploring the Mighty Mississippi."

Being from Michigan, the two men have never experienced such heat as is common this time of year in this part of the country. Air-conditioning is something that isn't really needed in their state, but they found it to be quite a comfort in Caruthersville.

When asked what they thought about Caruthersville, the two men said, "Caruthersville is a real friendly, clean town. It is much different than other towns that we have stopped at." They both agreed that Missouri people were very very friendly.

The two men took a day off Thursday to get off of the river. They slept on the concrete ramp at the end of Ward Avenue last Wednesday night and had to move their bedding early Thursday when some fishermen wanted to go out and check their lines. One of the men said that sleeping on the concrete ramp was quite comfortable.

On Thursday, the two men spent lot of time in Caruthersville. Generally, they just looked the city over resting in the middle of their long journey.

Not only has the sun and heat presented a problem to these men, but flies, mosquitoes, and other insects have given them a hard time. "I do not know what type of fly it is that you have here," said one, "but it makes sleeping on sand bars almost impossible." One of them also said that he was going to so some research on mosquitoes when he got home.

Getting to New Orleans doesn't look like it is going to be much of a problem for these two men, but going home will be something else. When asked how they were going to go back home, they said that they would just have to play it by ear, and figure that problem out when it comes along.

Redburn said that they actually passed a boy in a boat powered by a five horse motor last Wednesday. "Although we could not keep up that paddling pace too long," said Redburn," you should have seen the look on that fellow's face when we passed him rowing."

Several people have stopped in Caruthersville on their journies up and down the Mississippi. Most of the adventures ones are in their teens and twenties, but Redburn and Glasco are both in their early thirties.

These two men are eating rice, potatoes, and other cheap foods to stay alive, because they have little money. Their boat is crude and is not powered by any motor. They are not out to break any records, and they are probably getting more out of their journey than anyone who has ever taken the trip.

The tupaia or Oriental tree shrew represents the earliest type of primates in the animal world.

Ann Landers

Gentleness, Consideration Needed in Marital Sex Life

Dear Ann Landers: I wish to comment on the letter from "Starvation Diet" -- the man whose sex life was terrible. He blamed her and she blamed him.

For ten years my husband and I had the same problem. It was neither frigidity on my part nor clumsiness on his part. It was simply that this attitude toward sex was primitive and mechanical and I felt I was being used to satisfy his animal passions. It took two years of counseling to set us straight.

Sex is the highest form of communicating love between woman and man. It should be an act of giving, for both parties. A woman must feel that she is an object of love and not just a convenient escape valve for releasing sexual impulses.

I urge Mr. Starvation Diet to take some quiet walks and examine his deepest motives. I am willing to bet that if he changes his attitude and approaches his wife with unselfish love and takes the time to be gentle and considerate he will find himself graciously received -- not rejected. A good sexual relationship can make a marriage heaven. A poor one can make it hell. --- ONE WHO HAS KNOWN BOTH

Dear One: Amen.

Dear Ann Landers: I recently went to a doctor who ordered me to take some laboratory tests. I was told I'd be notified of the results. One week passed and I heard nothing so I called and asked about the tests. I was informed that they were "in the mail."

Five days elapsed and nothing arrived so I called again. I was told, "The post office must have lost them."

I am now mad at the doctor because I think he lied to me. I want to change doctors and I have asked for my medical records. I was told, "It is not ethical for a doctor to give a patient medical records."

I discussed this with a friend who is well-versed in medical ethics. He said, "The doctor is right."

Do you think it is fair that I should have to take all those lab tests over just because the doctor doesn't want to give me my medical records? And why is it unethical for a doctor to give them to me? Please explain.
MAD AT CROAKERS

Dear Mad: It is indeed unethical for a doctor to give a patient his medical records. The reason is obvious. For example, if the physician should recommend the "surgical excision of multiple lipomata" it might frighten the patient to death. Another physician would know that this procedure is no big deal.

Your doctor should, however, furnish you with a report of your lab tests. You have a right to know how the tests turned out. If they were lost in the mail the doctor has an obligation to replace them.

Confidential to Below Zero Ray or Shine: Seven months is a long time to use a cold as an excuse for no good night kiss. I suggest you look for a young woman who is in better health.

When romantic glances turn to warm embraces is it love or chemistry? Send for the booklet "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference," by Ann Landers. Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35 cents in coin with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

If You Were the Judge

Husband Must Pay For His Wife's Teeth

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

As Mrs. Meek lost her teeth over the years, she also lost her desire to talk and spent more and more time fumbling over her knitting instead of her words. One day, she went to a dentist and obtained a set of false teeth and became extremely loquacious. Her husband appreciated this change in her character even less when he received the bill from the dentist.

"I won't pay it," Mr. Meek told the dentist. "I never gave you permission to make my wife a set of false teeth. It's bad enough I now have to listen to her constant chattering without having to pay for it."

Determined to collect the bill, the dentist took the matter to court.

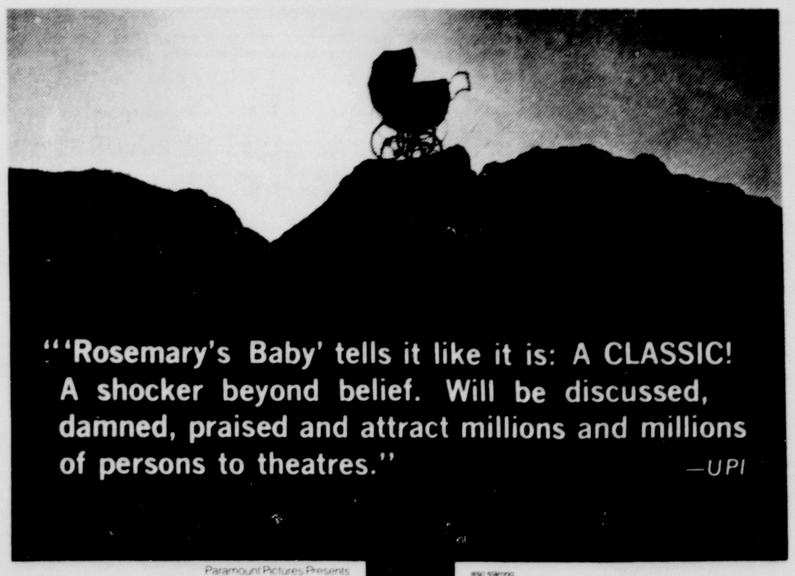

"Even if Mr. Meek didn't order the teeth," he told the judge, "he still has to pay for them. They were made for his wife. That makes him responsible for payment!"

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make Mr. Meek pay for the unordered false teeth?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that a husband is responsible for his wife's "necessaries" which includes a set of false teeth.

"Have you ever read about the safaris in Africa, and wished you could take one," asked Redburn,"Well we did not have the money to do that so we are exploring the Mighty Mississippi."

Being from Michigan, the two men have never experienced such heat as is common this time of year in this part of the country. Air-conditioning is something that isn't really needed in their state, but they found it to be quite a comfort in Caruthersville.

Redburn said that they actually passed a boy in a boat powered by a five horse motor last Wednesday. "Although we could not keep up that paddling pace too long," said Redburn," you should have seen the look on that fellow's face when we passed him rowing."

Several people have stopped in Caruthersville on their journies up and down the Mississippi. Most of the adventures ones are in their teens and twenties, but Redburn and Glasco are both in their early thirties.

These two men are eating rice, potatoes, and other cheap foods to stay alive, because they have little money. Their boat is crude and is not powered by any motor. They are not out to break any records, and they are probably getting more out of their journey than anyone who has ever taken the trip.

LOOKING NORTH on blacktop runway of the New Madrid county airport, one mile north of Marston and one-half mile east of Highway 61. Construction is expected to be completed in two weeks.

Airport Runways Surfaced

MARSTON - Blacktopping has been completed on the runway of the New Madrid county airport, reports W. S. McMullin, general contractor.

The runway is 3,200 feet long by 60 feet wide and runs in a northeast, southwest direction.

When completed, in about two weeks, the new facility will have a lighted runway with hard surfaced turn arounds and taxi ways.

This will complete the initial phase of construction at a cost of $200,000, financed by $89,000 federal aid, $25,000 state aid and $86,000 in county funds.

A second phase calls for the building of a hangar and office. No funds have been appropriated for the second phase.

The site consists of 87 acres, and since the acquisition of the Noranda facility, it is expected the runway will be lengthened to accommodate small jet aircraft.

Bill Brannock, Newspaperman, Dies at Cape

CAPE GIRARDEAU - Vane W. ("Bill") Brannock Jr., 45, a compositor for The Southeast Missourian and former editor and publisher of the Dexter Messenger, died unexpectedly of a heart attack at 10:55 p.m. Tuesday at a hospital.

Brannock became ill at his home and was admitted to the hopital at 10:25 p.m. He had no known previous heart condition and worked as usual Tuesday.

A member of a newspaper family, Brannock spent his years in civilian life in newspaper work.

He spent eight years in active duty with the navy.

Brannock was a member of St. Mary's Cathedral, where he served as an usher, and of the Knights of Columbus Council 1111. He was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3838 and for two years was the V.F.W. 15th District commander.

He was a past president of the Southeast Missouri Press Association as was his father, the late Vane W. Brannock of Dexter.

When initial steps were taken some 12 years ago to obtain a hospital at Dexter, Brannock served as the first president of the hospital planning baord. Just recently, the new Dexter Memorial Hospital was opened, culminating plans he helped to initiate.

The body is at the Walther's Funeral Home. Services are tentatively set for 9 Friday at St. Mary's Cathedral. Burial will be in the Dexter City Cemetery.

Brannock was born Jan. 26, 1923, in Bloomfield. He was educated in the Bloomfield and Dexter schools, graduating from Dexter High School.

At the age of 17, he joined the navy and served for eight years, some of which were spent in combat zones during World War II when he was assigned to the marine corps as navy medical corpsman. He held the rating of chief hospitalman in the naval reserve at the time of death.

Following his discharge from the Navy on June 3, 1948, Mr. Brannock returned to Dexter where he learned the newspaper business from his father who then owned and published the Dexter Messenger.

Within a few years, Brannock assumed editing and publishing of the paper when his father became editor of the Bloomfield Vindicator. He published the Dexter paper 10 years.

He then went to Coos Bay Oregon, where he worked in the news department of a daily newspaper. The World, for six months in 1959. He spent another six months in Las Vegas Nev., as a linotype operator or the Las Vegas Review, a daily newspaper.

In 1960, he moved to Cape Girardeau and for a year was employed by what is not The Missourian Litho and Printing Co. He then went to work in the composing room of the newspaper, fulfilling what Mrs. Brannock says was his "heart's desire." Even when he owned the Dexter paper, his ambition was to work on The Missourian, she said. He held his last position seven years.

Mrs. Brannock is the former Miss Betty Belle Pixley of Dexter. She and Mr. Brannock were married June 3, 1944.

Besides his wife and his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Brannock, Dexter, survivors are a son, Kevin, who will observe his 7th birthday Thursday; a daughter, Mrs. Wm. L. Killian, the former Miss Anne Brannock, and an infant grandson, John Patrick Killian, Bethesda, Md.

Other survivors are a brother, John F. Brannock, a printer on the Albuquerque Journal, a newspaper in Albuquerque, N. M.; a sister, Mrs. Sue Murphy, Columbia, Tenn., and his grandmother, Mrs. John Pearson, 135 South Spanish.

About Our Schools

By Lynn Twitty

Sikeston High School's juniors and seniors will not attend the opening day session of school August 28th and are asked not to report until the following day. The reason for this is that the administration and faculty at Senior High School will be busily involved in orienting some 690 freshmen and sophomores who will be attending classes on the Senior High School campus for the first time. It is felt that the school operation will proceed more smoothly if the faculty can devote all of their time on the newcomers. Next year it will not be necessary to hold juniors and seniors out on the opening day as then only incoming freshmen will be new to the school. We assume that juniors and seniors, thus getting another day of vacation, will not protest too much.

The curriculum at the Area Vocational School, operated by the Board of Education here, offers a wide variety of vocational education subjects. It is opened not only to students from this district, but to those students from our neighboring schools who desire to attend. In fact, the wide curriculum could not be offered without the cooperation of our neighboring schools and the enrollment from them has steadily increased since the Area School was opened.

No one of our schools in this area is large enough to maintain the broad vocational school program alone. It must be a cooperative arrangement and students from our school and our neighbors can thus acquire vocational skills in many different areas that would be impossible otherwise.

A school with perhaps 25-30 units of academic work, can immediately broaden its curriculum by adding to this the 70 units of vocational subjects which are offered in the Area School. We hope that boards of education and school administrations from the surrounding area will continue to give their students the advantage of this fine program which they can do at a very nominal tution cost. We appreciate the cooperation of neighboring schools who have helped us to make this program available. Superintendents or principals, who have not, heretofore, sent students, are encouraged to write or phone Jim Cornett, Director of the Area Vocational School, for detailed information as to the procedures for enrollment. Mr. Cornett will visit with any of those schools who express this interest.

The many changes in the Middle School schedule, in which we are attempting to provide more time for those subjects considered to require more time, will doubtless be confusing to some students for a few days when school opens, perhaps even to some faculty members. However, we believe these changes to be of sufficient importance, in improving the program, that any confusion resulting will be far overbalanced by a better program. A bit of patience, some understanding and willingness to cooperate will, we hope, soon get us adjusted to the changes.

The kindergarten enrollment has somewhat exceeded our original estimates and it may be necessary to establish a cutoff date for further enrollment if the total number of youngsters whose parents wish them to attend may seem to exceed our capacity. We hope this will not occur. However, we did repeatedly ask that all parents enroll prospective kindergarteners early in the summer. Some parents failed to do this, thus the possibility of more youngsters than our planned capacity will take care of.

We believe that kindergarten will strengthen our educational program to a very considerable extent. We urge those parents who may not have enrolled their children for kindergarten do so immediately, if they desire them to attend this year's session.

LOOKING NORTH on blacktop runway of the New Madrid county airport, one mile north of Marston and one-half mile east of Highway 61. Construction is expected to be completed in two weeks.

Airport Runways Surfaced

MARSTON - Blacktopping has been completed on the runway of the New Madrid county airport, reports W. S. McMullin, general contractor.

The runway is 3,200 feet long by 60 feet wide and runs in a northeast, southwest direction.

When completed, in about two weeks, the new facility will have a lighted runway with hard surfaced turn arounds and taxi ways.

This will complete the initial phase of construction at a cost of $200,000, financed by $89,000 federal aid, $25,000 state aid and $86,000 in county funds.

A second phase calls for the building of a hangar and office. No funds have been appropriated for the second phase.

The site consists of 87 acres, and since the acquisition of the Noranda facility, it is expected the runway will be lengthened to accommodate small jet aircraft.

Bill Brannock, Newspaperman, Dies at Cape

CAPE GIRARDEAU - Vane W. ("Bill") Brannock Jr., 45, a compositor for The Southeast Missourian and former editor and publisher of the Dexter Messenger, died unexpectedly of a heart attack at 10:55 p.m. Tuesday at a hospital.

Brannock became ill at his home and was admitted to the hopital at 10:25 p.m. He had no known previous heart condition and worked as usual Tuesday.

A member of a newspaper family, Brannock spent his years in civilian life in newspaper work.

He spent eight years in active duty with the navy.

Brannock was a member of St. Mary's Cathedral, where he served as an usher, and of the Knights of Columbus Council 1111. He was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3838 and for two years was the V.F.W. 15th District commander.

He was a past president of the Southeast Missouri Press Association as was his father, the late Vane W. Brannock of Dexter.

When initial steps were taken some 12 years ago to obtain a hospital at Dexter, Brannock served as the first president of the hospital planning baord. Just recently, the new Dexter Memorial Hospital was opened, culminating plans he helped to initiate.

The body is at the Walther's Funeral Home. Services are tentatively set for 9 Friday at St. Mary's Cathedral. Burial will be in the Dexter City Cemetery.

Brannock was born Jan. 26, 1923, in Bloomfield. He was educated in the Bloomfield and Dexter schools, graduating from Dexter High School.

At the age of 17, he joined the navy and served for eight years, some of which were spent in combat zones during World War II when he was assigned to the marine corps as navy medical corpsman. He held the rating of chief hospitalman in the naval reserve at the time of death.

Following his discharge from the Navy on June 3, 1948, Mr. Brannock returned to Dexter where he learned the newspaper business from his father who then owned and published the Dexter Messenger.

Within a few years, Brannock assumed editing and publishing of the paper when his father became editor of the Bloomfield Vindicator. He published the Dexter paper 10 years.

He then went to Coos Bay, Oregon, where he worked in the news department of a daily newspaper. The World, for six months in 1959. He spent another six months in Las Vegas, Nev., as a linotype operator on the Las Vegas Review, a daily newspaper.

In 1960, he moved to Cape Girardeau and for a year was employed by what is not The Missourian Litho and Printing Co. He then went to work in the composing room of the newspaper, fulfilling what Mrs. Brannock says was his "heart's desire." Even when he owned the Dexter paper, his ambition was to work on The Missourian, she said. He held his last position seven years.

Mrs. Brannock is the former Miss Betty Belle Pixley of Dexter. She and Mr. Brannock were married June 3, 1944.

Besides his wife and his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Brannock, Dexter, survivors are a son, Kevin, who will observe his 7th birthday Thursday; a daughter, Mrs. Wm. L. Killian, the former Miss Anne Brannock, and an infant grandson, John Patrick Killian, Bethesda, Md.

Other survivors are a brother, John F. Brannock, a printer on the Albuquerque Journal, a newspaper in Albuquerque, N. M.; a sister, Mrs. Sue Murphy, Columbia, Tenn., and his grandmother, Mrs. John Pearson, 135 South Spanish.

About Our Schools

By Lynn Twitty

Sikeston High School's juniors and seniors will not attend the opening day session of school August 28th and are asked not to report until the following day. The reason for this is that the administration and faculty at Senior High School will be busily involved in orienting some 690 freshmen and sophomores who will be attending classes on the Senior High School campus for the first time. It is felt that the school operation will proceed more smoothly if the faculty can devote all of their time on the newcomers. Next year it will not be necessary to hold juniors and seniors out on the opening day as then only incoming freshmen will be new to the school. We assume that juniors and seniors, thus getting another day of vacation, will not protest too much.

The curriculum at the Area Vocational School, operated by the Board of Education here, offers a wide variety of vocational education subjects. It is opened not only to students from this district, but to those students from our neighboring schools who desire to attend. In fact, the wide curriculum could not be offered without the cooperation of our neighboring schools and the enrollment from them has steadily increased since the Area School was opened.

No one of our schools in this area is large enough to maintain the broad vocational school program alone. It must be a cooperative arrangement and students from our school and our neighbors can thus acquire vocational skills in many different areas that would be impossible otherwise.

A school with perhaps 25-30 units of academic work, can immediately broaden its curriculum by adding to this the 70 units of vocational subjects which are offered in the Area School. We hope that boards of education and school administrations from the surrounding area will continue to give their students the advantage of this fine program which they can do at a very nominal tution cost. We appreciate the cooperation of neighboring schools who have helped us to make this program available. Superintendents or principals, who have not, heretofore, sent students, are encouraged to write or phone Jim Cornett, Director of the Area Vocational School, for detailed information as to the procedures for enrollment. Mr. Cornett will visit with any of those schools who express this interest.

The many changes in the Middle School schedule, in which we are attempting to provide more time for those subjects considered to require more time, will doubtless be confusing to some students for a few days when school opens, perhaps even to some faculty members. However, we believe these changes to be of sufficient importance, in improving the program, that any confusion resulting will be far overbalanced by a better program. A bit of patience, some understanding and willingness to cooperate will, we hope, soon get us adjusted to the changes.

The kindergarten enrollment has somewhat exceeded our original estimates and it may be necessary to establish a cutoff date for further enrollment if the total number of youngsters whose parents wish them to attend may seem to exceed our capacity. We hope this will not occur. However, we did repeatedly ask that all parents enroll prospective kindergarteners early in the summer. Some parents failed to do this, thus the possibility of more youngsters than our planned capacity will take care of.

We believe that kindergarten will strengthen our educational program to a very considerable extent. We urge those parents who may not have enrolled their children for kindergarten do so immediately, if they desire them to attend this year's session.
